"FIGHTING BOB" BEFORE THE SCHLEY COURT.

HE KNEW THE SECRET CODE

ARRANGED WITH CUBANS, BUT DID NOT TELL SCHLEY.

DEWEY WANTED THE FACTS

CAPTAIN LEMLY AND BOOK BARRED OUT.

Washington, Sept. 30.—There was unusual interest in the proceedings of the Schley court of inquiry this afternoon from the fact that Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, who commanded the battleship Iowa in the Santiago campaign, was a witness.

During the examination of Admiral Evans the judge advocate asked the witness concerning a statement by a lieutenant of the Spanish navy, printed by the navy department, to the effect that at dark the American ships withdrew to the southwest, disappearing. The introduction of this book was objected to and Admiral Dewey said:

"Witness has already told what distance was maintained by the fleet. We do not care for that kind of information. Admiral Evans was there and can answer for himself. We want facts, not newspaper articles."

Admiral Evans said that before leaving Key West on May 20 to join the flying squadron at Cienfuegos, Captain Chadwick had communicated to him the secret code arranged by Captain McCalla. He had not, however, reported this code to Admiral Schley upon his arrival, supposing that the admiral knew about the code.

Commander Southerland, while on the stand to correct any errors in his testimony of Saturday, he was asked whether if the fleet of Cervera had been in the harbor at Cienfuegos it could have been seen by the vessels blockading that port. He thought, unless the Spanish vessels had anchored in the lower harbor, a most unlikely proceeding.

COMMANDER MILLER.

The first new witness of the day was Commander James M. Miller, who was in command of the collier Merrimac while that vessel was a part of Admiral Schley's flying squadron.

Commander Miller said that he had assumed command of the Merrimac on April 11 at Norfolk. He had taken on board at Lambert's Point soon afterward about 5,000 tons of coal. His vessel had, he said, been capable at first of making between nine and ten knots, but afterward he had trouble with his pressin machinery, so that by May 23 and 24 he would have hesitated in trying to secure a speed of more than seven or eight knots. He read from the collier's log to show that the Iowa, the Massachusetts and the Castine had been coaled on the 23d and 24th.

No record was found of the coaling of any vessel on the 25th or the 26th, the time consumed in proceeding from Cienfuegos to Santiago.

"The sea," he said, "on the 25th was nasty, quite nasty. The Merrimac, being a heavy vessel, its speed was affected, but if I had a smaller vessel I should have felt it very much."

A BIT TOUCHY.

"I feel a little bit touchy about the Merrimac," he said. Admiral Dewey assured him that he had displayed no temper.

Captain Jewell said that he had first fallen in with the flying squadron under command of Commodore Schley on the evening of May 26. Captain Lemley quoted from Admiral Schley's letter to the senate committee on naval affairs, dated Feb. 18, 1899, saying, "After having been informed by the Scourt commanded by such officers as Sisgbee, Jewell and Wise that, although they had been off Santiago for a week they had seen nothing of Cervera's fleet since it left Curacao," and asked whether he had given to Admiral Schley this information or any other information concerning the Spanish fleet.

The witness replied: "I gave him no information with reference to that subject whatever."

Captain Jewell said that when he had first seen Admiral Schley's statement as to the information he might have given concerning Cervera's fleet he had written a letter to the department denying that he had done so. Objection was made to this line of testimony and it was not persisted in.

The witness said in reply to a question from Mr. Raynor that he had no knowledge that Captain Sigsbee, speaking for himself, and for Captains Jewel and Wise, stated to Commodore Schley on the 26th at Santiago that neither he (the witness) nor Wise or himself (Sigsbee) had seen anything or knew anything of the movements or whereabouts of the Spanish fleet. Nor did he know whether Captain Sigsbee wrote a letter to Commodore Schley stating that that was a fact.

THE COAL SUPPLY.

Captain Jewell was then examined as to his coal supply at the time. He said that he thought he could have steamed 1,200 or 1,300 miles. Mr.

INJURIES MAY PROVE FATAL

RUSSEL FLAGLE FALLS FROM HICKORY TREE.

Sustains Internal Injuries of a Very Grave Nature—Little Hope of Recovery.

Russel Flagle, 13 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Flagle, of 57 East Third street, fell from a tree Saturday afternoon and sustained injuries that may prove fatal. The boy has been unconscious most of the time and his condition is such that the attending physician holds out little hope.

In company with a number of boys about his own age young Flagle went out after hickory nuts along the Goshen road Saturday afternoon. The lads found a tree near the Shobe residence, a few miles west of the city, and young Flagle ascended it for the purpose of shaking down nuts. When about twenty feet from the ground he lost his hold and in falling struck several branches, alighting on the ground on his side.

The unconscious boy was taken to the Shobe residence where Dr. Stults was summoned. Toward evening the lad had rallied somewhat and he was brought to his home in the city. An examination failed to show any broken bones, but the internal injuries are of a very grave nature.

M'KINLEY WILL PROBATED.

Canton, O., Sept. 30.—The will of William McKinley was admitted to probate today. Judge William R. Day and Secretary George B. Cortelyou were appointed administrators. They gave bond of $100,000 jointly for the faithful performance of their duties. Appraisers are to meet this afternoon to make a schedule and to assess the values of the property.

JUBILEE DAY OBSERVED.

The Knights of Columbus observed the jubilee proclamation of Pope Leo yesterday afternoon by attending prayers at four Catholic churches, the Cathedral, St. Mary's, St. Peter's and St. Patrick's. The knights paraded from their hall in the Lau building, visiting the churches in the order mentioned, and the procession was joined by a large number of Catholics en route.

AGAIN AFTER TAYLOR.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—Arthur Gcebel, of Kentucky, and his attorneys who, on Saturday applied to Governor Durbin for the return of W. S. Taylor and Charles Finley, called at the governor's office again this forenoon, but were requested by the governor to return this afternoon. The governor's secretary said it was probable that no formal answer would be made by the governor today.

LOST HIS WAD.

Josiah King, of 28 Wilt street, lost $80 in bills Saturday, and so far has received no trace of the missing money. Mr. King had an appointment with a friend to whom the money was to be loaned, and was making some purchases at the Fruit house when the loss was discovered.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

SEVERAL STORIES AFLOAT

FRIENDS OF M'KINLEYS DO NOT BELIEVE IN

THEORY OF DYNAMITE PLOT

STORY THAT GUARD HAD BEEN ATTACKED.

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Friends of the family of the late President McKinley emphatically discredit belief in the idea that the shot reported fired by Guard Deprend at West Lawn cemetery last night was on account of any attempt to desecrate the tomb of the late president. They do not attempt to explain the strange story of the guard's or account for the firing of the shot which the cemetery officials and other residents near by say they heard, and they do not believe that two men would undertake to make an attack on the vault with seventy soldiers on guard or near at hand.

It is believed that the military authorities will make a thorough investigation of the stroies told by the soldiers on guard Sunday night. There are rumors that the shot was fired on account of an accidental fall and also that it was the result of personal differences. The officers in charge early instructed soldiers not to talk of the affair.

The statements of the guard made Sunday night could not be obtained until the officers had secured their reports from them, and while the officers declined to be quoted, they were made with their knowledge and in their presence.

None of the officers would express an opinion as to what the object of the intruders may have been and they also instructed the men not to discuss the occurrence with outsiders.

The few persons who succeeded in gaining admission to the cemetery were directed to the officers for all information and guards were told not to talk of the incident among themselves while outsiders were present. This is said to be in accordance with military regulations.

THE STORY AS TOLD.

It was nearly 8 o'clock when Guard De Prend saw a prowler in the rear of the vault behind a tree and in a shadow. Upon being challenged by the soldier the man remained motionless behind a tree. He was then forty feet from the soldier.

De Prend advanced, made a second challenge and brought his gun ready to fire. The man in the meantime had dodged away to a second tree about ten feet distant from the first. The soldier renewed his challenge and fired, but as he did so a hard blow was given the gun and his aim missed. A second man had stealthily come up to the soldier and dealt the blow. At the same time man No. 2 struck the soldier with a heavy instrument on the head and attempted to stab him. A gash, "L"-shaped and about two inches long each way, was cut through the clothing, including the overcoat, and a small scratch was made on De Prend's body.

The blow was so hard that De Prend was knocked down a small hill and was unable to gain his feet before the men disappeared in the darkness.

Lieutenant Ashbridge, who was officer of the day, as soon as he heard the challenge and shot, rushed to the assistance of the guard. He was followed by other soldiers.

The sentinel attacked, however, was in the rear of the vault on a hill and before the relief force could climb the hill the men had escaped.

NO TRACE OF PROWLERS.

A hunt was made for the prowlers, but no trace could be found of them. The vault is but a short distance from the west edge of the cemetery and the men evidently escaped from there into the fields and woods near by.

The man who dodged about the trees, De Prend says, carried a shining weapon in one hand and a package done up in white in the other.

He says he could recognize the man if ever seen again. The man who attacked him was masked.

That Captain Biddle believes an attempt was made to blow the vault to pieces is shown by the fact that he put on an extra guard around the vault and in various portions of the cemetery the balance of the night. All the men of the company, seventy-five in number, were ordered to be ready to turn out on the first alarm sounded.

SENTINEL WAS DECEIVED.

Shortly after noon today Captain Biddle, commanding the guard at West Lawn cemetery, thanked the reporters for the fair and correct manner in which they had described the incidents at West Lawn cemetery last night. He said after a careful investigation today:

"I think the sentinel deceived himself in the occurrence. I do not think it probable that an attack such as he stated actually occurred. When daylight came we could find no evidence of a struggle."

INSTALL NEW 'PHONES.

The Fort Wayne Gas company this morning received from the Home Telephone company a large consignment of new telephone instrumsnts to be installed along the gas company's telephone system. This system is an extensive affair, covering the gas field and reaching every pumping station. It is about eighty miles in length.

CHANGE IN MAIL DELIVERY

TWO IN FORENOON, TWO IN AFTERNOON NOW.

Expected to Better Business Service—New Carrier Goes On—Rural Route Starts.

Beginning tomorrow a slight change will be made in the delivery of mails from the Fort Wayne postoffice which it is expected will be welcomed in the business district, though the number of daily deliveries is not increased; this remains at four.

Formerly the deliveries in the business district have been made at 7:15 a. m., 1 p. m., 2 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. Hereafter the deliveries will be made two in the forenoon and two in the afternoon—at 7:15 a. m., 11 a. m., 1:30 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. The residence deliveries, which have been made at 715 a. m. and 2 p. m., will now be made at 7:15 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. One additional carrier is added to the force tomorrow, making the total twenty-two. Robert K. Miller is the new appointee.

RURAL ROUTE STARTS.

The first delivery of mail upon the new rural free delivery route, No. 8, northward over the Auburn and Coldwater roads, reaching Academie, will be made Tuesday morning. Edwin B. Bowser is the carrier.

The civil service examination for positions as clerk and carrier in the Fort Wayne postoffice will be held Wednesday, Nov. 20. Applications must be on file by October 23, and blanks for this purpose may be secured from W. J. Hess, secretary of the board, at the government building.

THE BRITISH LOST HEAVILY

AN ALL DAY BATTLE ENDS IN BOER REPULSE.

Botha at the Head of Large Force Gives a Good Argument on the Border of Zululand.

Durban, Natal, Sept. 30.—A force of fifteen hundred Boers, commanded by General Botha, made an attack, which lasted all day long, September 26, at Portitala, on the border of Zululand. The burghers were finally repulsed, but at a heavy cost to the garrison, whose losses were an officer and eleven men killed, and five officers and thirty-eight men wounded. In addition, sixty-three are missing, of which number many are believed to have been killed or wounded. The Boer commandant, Opperman, and nineteen burghers are known to have been killed.

KILLED IN COLLISION.

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 30.—Three men were killed and two seriously injured in a collision of freight trains head-on on the Berkshire division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at Long Hill today. The dead are Engineer E. Burns and Fireman Gustafson, of the northbound train, and Brakeman Nally, of the southbound train. Engineer Holt and Fireman Pitcher, of the southbound train, are injured. Both engines and many cars were piled up, blocking all traffic.

Will Young spent Sunday in Bluffton, the guest of Clem Starr.

OFFICERS SLAIN

DID NOT ESCAPE DEATH TRAP IN ISLAND OF SAMAR.

SURPRISED BY LARGE PARTY OF BOLOMEN.

COMPANY C. OF THE NINTH

ALMOST ANNIHILATED, GAVE A GOOD ACCOUNT.

Washington, Sept. 30.—In addition to the enlisted men, three commissioned officers of campany C, Ninth infantry, are supposed now to have been killed in the action in Samar, Philippine Islands, last Saturday. The officers are:

A question having arisen as to the accuracy of the cablegram received at the war department yesterday from General Chaffee, the cable company was directed to repeat it. The repetition disclosed some inaccuracies that materially change the message.

THE CORRECTED DISPATCH.

As corrected, the dispatch reads:

"Manila, Sept. 29.—Adjutant General; Washington: Hughes reports following from Bassey, Southern Samar:

"Twenty-four men, company C, Ninth regiment, United States infantry, eleven wounded, have just arrived from Balangiga; remainder of company killed.

"Insurgents secured all company supplies and all rifles except three. Company was attacked during breakfast, morning September 28; company seventy-two strong; officers—Thomas W. Connell, captain; Edward A. Bumpus, first lieutenant; Dr. R. S. Griswold, major surgeon.

"Chaffee."

As corrected, the dispatch shows that company C, of the Ninth regiment, suffered the disaster. No company was mentioned in the dispatch made public yesterday. The serious discrepancy between the original and the corrected dispatches, however, is that the latter indicates that the commissioned officers of the company are missing and perhaps killed, while the former indicated that they escaped.

The father of Captain Connell resides in New York city. He telegraphed to the war department today that he is in receipt of a cablegram from the quartermaster of the Ninth regiment, saying that his son had been killed in action. He asks for confirmation of the dispatch from the war department, but the officials here are unable at this time to confirm the information.

ARRIVED FROM THE FIGHT.

Manila, Sept. 30.—General Hughes, from the Island of Samar, reports the arrival of Sergeant Markley and one private at Tannan, from the fight at Balangiga, where over forty men of company C, Ninth infantrty, were killed by insurgents, who attacked the troops while at breakfast Saturday last. The men who have reached Tannan say the officers of the company, who were at first reported to have escaped, were killed with the majority of the company. The troops were attacked, while unprepared, by 400 bolomen, of whom the Americans killed about 140.

Many of the soldiers were killed in their quarters before they had time to grasp their rifles.

General Hughes is going to the scene of the disaster and will personally command the troops.

A MURDER SOCIETY.

A new branch of the Katipunan has been discovered at Tarlac, capital of the province of that name. The object of the society is the slaughter of the whites.

Marcenloa Marivule, president of Banonag, is the chief of the new branch, which includes members of the native constabulary, who were recently armed. One policeman admits that he was taxed a dollar and was ordered to make bolos. A regular collection has been made by the organization from the natives either by persuasion or threats, and an uprising had been planned for an early date.

The conditions in Tayabas and Bantagas are not reassuring. The worst form of guerilla warfare prevails there. The insurgent forces are distributed, under cover, along every road, and there await, for the Americans in ambush.

The insurgent leader, Caballos, who formerly belonged to General Cailles' command, but who refused to surrender with Cailles, is retreating to the mountains. The main forces of the insurgents are scattered in bands over the province, where they dig up rifles when there is an opportunity to use them.

A SPECIAL VENIRE.

The jury commissioners and the county clerk met this morning pursuant to instructions from the court and drew a venire of eighty jurymen to serve in the Dunn case, in addition to the regular panel. The names drawn were not made public and the court entered an order requiring the clerk to keep the list secreted from public gaze until within a few days of the trial, when the services would be made. The object is to prevent the talesmen drawn from knowing of it themselves and thus giving them the opportunity to disqualify themselves by publicly discussing the case and expressing themselves as to the guilt or innocence of the accused man.

ARMY OFFICER ANSWERING TO CHARGES.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The senate sub-committee of the committee on military affairs, consisting of Senators Hawley, chairman; Proctor, Burrows, Cockrell and Harris, at 11 o'clock today began the investigation of the charge against Lieutenant Commander H. O. S. Heistand, of the army, in connection with the alleged Manila hemp combination. The charges were preferred by Major E. L. Hawkes, formerly a volunteer officer, and were deemed of sufficient seriousness to warrant an investigation by the senate.

The committee decided that the proceedings should be public, that course being regarded as best for all concerned.

In brief, the charges against Colonel Heistand are that he, in connection with other officers in the army and some officials in the civil departments of the government, attempted to form a combination to control the output of hemp from the Philippines, using their official positions and influence to further their ends. Major Hawkes preferred the charges to the secretary of war and also to the senate committee on military affairs They were denied by those against whom the allegations were made. After some consideration the senate, by resolution, authorized the investigation which began today.

SOLDIERS' HOME BURNED.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 30.— The confederate soldiers' home, just east of this city, was destroyed by fire today. There were no lives lost, but several narrow escapes. About seventy veterans were inmates of the building, some of them being invalids, who were rescued with difficulty. The loss is estimated at $25,000, covered by $22,000 insurance. The home was opened for the ex-confederate veterans of the state June 30, and was built by popular subscription.

LOCAL LINES.

Mrs. R. S. Robertson and daughter, Miss Frances Haberly, are visiting in Toledo.

Mrs. A. W. Line went to North Manchester this morning to meet her brother, Charles Eicholtz, of Tacoma, Wash., who is coming here on a visit.

The annual mission festival of Redeemer English Lutheran church was held yesterday at Swinney park and the attendance was unusually large. Rev. C. F. W. Meyer preached the morning sermon and Rev. Luehr and Rev. Arendt officiated in the afternoon. The ladies of the church served luncheon at noon. The collection taken up for synod mission work was quite large.

The board of trustees of the Feeble Minded Institute is in session this afternoon receiving bids for the construction of a cottage for feeble minded women of child-bearing age.

The young men's Bible class of the First Baptist church will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening at the home of Robert Martz, 12 West Jefferson street. Business of importance will be up for consideration and a full attendance is desired.

DOSE WAS DEADLY

HARRY BAYLISS ENDS LIFE WITH CHLORAL.

DIED AT HIS MOTHER'S GRAVE

Leaning against the tombstone which marked the last resting place of his mother in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at New Haven, the lifeless body of Harry Bayliss was found Sunday afternoon by two ladies who were walking through the cemetery. Despondent from ill-health, Bayliss had ended his life by drinking a deadly drug. He was about 50 years of age.

Bayliss was quite well known in Fort Wayne and was formerly employed as a porter at the Home billiard hall. Recently he went to Muskegon, Mich., to work, and it is evident that he came from Muskegon Saturday, going directly to New Haven, as none of his relatives in this city knew of his presence. Several persons at New Haven saw him upon his arrival at noon, and he started in the direction of the cemetery. Later the sexton, Robert Bell, noticed Bayliss sitting upon the ground near his mother's grave, but paid no further attention to him.

LADIES FOUND HIM.

Sunday afternoon as Mrs. William Snyder and Mrs. T. J. Eiler, of New Haven, were walking in the cemetery, two little girls, Minnie and Grace Miller, called their attention to a man leaning against Mrs. Hammond's tombstone. Approaching him the ladies made the horrifying discovery that the man was dead. His overcoat and hat were hanging upon the tombstone, his under coat lying upon the ground near him. Beside the man was an empty bottle, and on the ground between his outstretched legs was a loaded revolver.

The cemetery authorities were at once notified and Deputy Coroner Schrader was called upon the case. He found the body not yet cold, but turning blue, indicating that death had been due to chloral poisoning. The empty flask had evidently contained whisky with the drug mixed with it. There was an odor of liquor and a white sediment in the bottom of the bottle, which was turned over to Dr. MacBeth for examination. In the pockets of the dead man's clothing Dr. Schrader found some silver coin, a receipt for $35 for medical services from a Muskegon physician and an express money order receipt for $35 which had been sent to the dead man's sister, Mrs. Carrie Coats, of Utica, N. Y., last Thursday.

"To whom may find me: Please send word to Thomas Hammond, 299 Hoagland avenue, or Home billiard hall, Fort Wayne or to J. J. Bayliss, care Morton hotel, Grand Rapids."

At the top of the letter was written in lead pencil, "Or to Robert Hammond, 413 South Calhoun street, Fort Wayne."

On the back of the envelope was also penciled:

"Bury me by the side of my mother, Mrs. Hammond."

HALF-BROTHERS HERE.

Bayliss was a halfbrother of Robert Hammond, former owner of the Home billiard hall, and Thomas Hammond is another half-brother. J. J. Bayliss, a full brother, conducts a cigar store in Grand Rapids. The dead man had long been in poor health, though nothing in his frequent letters to relatives ever intimated any intention of suicide. He had been lame from childhood, and had lost the sight of one eye, and these afflictions caused him much suffering. But a few days ago Robert Hammond received a letter from the dead man's brother at Grand Rapids, stating that Harry had spent the previous Sunday with him and seemed in good spirits.

The remains were placed in charge of Undertaker N. W. Bloom, who has prepared them for burial.

Miss Fairy Tilbury and Miss Flora Smick gave a 'bus party Saturday evening to the home of Miss Grace Whetzell, at Huntertown. Luncheon was served at midnight and the occasion was a most enjoyable one.

HAS GONE TO REST

C. FREDERICK MYERS DIED SUNDAY MORNING.

HE WAS A PIONEER CITIZEN

FOR MANY YEARS A STREET SPRINKLING CONTRACTOR.

OTHER MORTUARY MATTERS

DEATHS AND FUNERALS IN CITY AND COUNTRY.

Charles Frederick Myers, one of the best known and most highly esteemed of Fort Wayne's older residents, died Sunday morning at his home, 66 Douglas avenue, after an illness of many months. Mr. Myers was 73 years of age, and for more than sixty years had been a resident of Allen county. During the period of many years he was a street sprinkling contractor, and enjoyed the widest acquaintance and the esteem of all who knew him.

Early in April last Mr. Myers was stricken with Bright's disease of an aggravated type, and since that time he had been steadily failing. In August there was some improvement and the patient went to Rome City to spend some time at the cottage of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Peters, and family. The gain was but temporary, and returning he slowly declined to the end. For a week he had been barely able to recognize the members of his family, and Saturday evening relapsed into the final unconsciousness that preceded the peaceful end of his long, active and upright life.

CAME AT EARLY DAY.

Mr. Myers was indeed one of the pioneer citizens of Fort Wayne. He was born at Windheim, Germany, May 14, 1828, and when 9 years of age emigrated with his parents to America. After a stormy voyage of nine weeks the party landed in New York, spent two months there and then took up the toilsome journey to Indiana—then in a large part a wilderness.

Reaching Maumee City, Ohio, they boarded flatboats and slowly poled their way up the Maumee river, landing along the way to prepare their meals and to sleep. The year 1838 marked the arrival of the family in Fort Wayne, and their first residence here was a little log cabin standing on the banks of Spy Run, north of the present waterworks pumping station. There was no door upon the cabin and a blanket hung across the aperture that furnished a way of ingress and egress. The glow from the old fireplace furnished the only artificial illumination until by and by a flood in the creek washed down a large cake of beeswax, and from this their first supply of candles was made. Through the gloomy nights wolves, attracted by the odor of food, would approach the cabin, push aside the blanket which covered the door and glare hungrily in until the father arose to drive them away. Mr. Myers' father died thirty-nine years ago; his mother three years later.

A PIONEER'S LIFE.

Charles Frederick Myers grew to sturdy manhood among the scenes and in full participation in the hardships of pioneer days. He was employed by Hon. Hugh McCulloch, afterwards secretary of the treasury, and later worked as a farm hand for Hon. F. P. Randall, afterwards mayor of the city for many years.

Mr. Myers' marriage occurred in 1851, and his bride was Miss Sophia Hitzman, who survives him. The ceremony was performed in the old St. Paul's Lutheran church by Rev. Auehn, a well known preacher of pioneer days. Through nearly half a century of wedded life this devoted couple lived and loved in a home life that was ideal, and up until a week before his death Mr. Myers had been planning to celebrate the golden anniversary of their wedding November 21 next.

Two years after their marriage Mr. Myers bought a tract of timber land in Adams township, cleared a small space in the woods and built a home of logs. The first night they occupied it a fearful storm arose, trees were falling all about them and Mr. and Mrs. Myers sat up all night, momentarily expecting a falling tree would crash through the roof upon them. Upon this farm they resided eight years, but Mr. Myers was attacked with rheumatism, and the family finally returned to Fort Wayne and purchased the property which has since been their home. Mr. Myers engaged in the purchase of horses for the eastern market, and later began the street sprinkling business which he continued until the beginning of his fatal illness.

THE FAMILY.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers were the parents of six children. Christian died about twelve years ago and Sophia in infancy. Those who survive are Mrs. John C. Peters, Fred H., the liveryman Dr. W. F., the veterinary surgeon, and Henry C., who conducts the old sprinkling business founded by his father.

Mr. Myers was one of a family of eleven children, of whom only one now survives. He lives in Cincinnati and is in poor health. A sister, Mrs. Stier, died last year on Lafayette street. Mr. Myers was one of the founders of Emanuel Lutheran church, a man of the loftiest character and strictest integrity, cheerful and hopeful in disposition, and was universally respected and esteemed.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 from the residence and at 2 oclock from Emanuel Lutheran church. Rev. Philip Wambsganss will officiate, and the interment will be at Lindenwood. The pall-bearers will be four grandsons of the deceased—Fred, Will, Otto and Arthur Peters, and two nephews—Herman W. Hobrock and Edward Myers.

WYBOURN.

Angeline Wybourn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Wybourn, of 383 Lafayette street, died Sunday from tuberculosis, at the age of twelve years.

Funeral services will be held from the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock; interment at Lindenwood.

RAUNER.

Miss May Rauner, sixteen years of age, died Sunday afternoon at St. Joseph's hospital from appendicitis. She was the daughter of Isidore Rauner, of 481 Lafayette street, and had submitted to a surgical operation Friday as the only hope of saving her life.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 8:30 from the residence and at 9 o'clock from St. Patrick's church. The interment will be at Hesse Cassel.

GREEN.

Malcolm A. Green died at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of his mother, Mrs. M. F. Green, 139 West Main street, after an extended illness. Mr. Green was thirty-nine years of age.

He was born at LaRue, Ohio, but Fort Wayne has been his home since childhood. Previous to his illness he was employed as a trimmer at the City Carriage works. He was prominent in the Knights of Pythias, and had many friends. Mr. Green was united in marriage some years ago to Miss Flora Stafford, of Auburn, who, with one child, survives him. Miss Gertrude Green is a sister, and Seth Green a brother of the deceased.

Funeral services will be held from the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

ABOUT THE CITY HALL.

For the first time in a number of months the pay day of all the city departments falls on the same day of the month. Tomorrow the quarterly salaries of the city officials will be paid, the fire and police pay roll, amounting to $6,521, will be disbursed, and the street and park employes will receive their bi-weekly stipends. It is very rarely that all of these divergent pay days fall on th same day.

Within a day or two the board of works expects to receive a consignment of squirrels, secured by The Sentinel, a dozen pairs in all, and will place them in Swinney park. Houses, nestling in the forks of trees and other convenient places, have been provided for the expected little strangers, and every comfort, up to providing them food for the winter, has been arranged for. One thing has, however, been overlooked, and that is the passage of an ordinance that will insure their protection from boys with sling-shots and men with dogs. The small boy with the sling-shot and air-gun can probably be more easily taken care of than the big man with the dog.

The committee on contracts and franchises, upon the call of Chairman Hosey, will meet tomorrow evening to consider the new franchise of the Southwestern Traction company giving them a right of way on Harrison street. The board of works has agreed to the franchise and it will now be passed over to the committee and the council.

Degree of Honor, No. 2, will give an entertainment tomorrow evening at the hall, 107 Calhoun street. In addition to an interesting stage program, there will be a doll contest and also a contest as to the most popular foot ball player in the city. No. 2 always takes good care of those who attend the entertainments and a special effort in that direction will be made tomorrow evening.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to thank the ladies of the north side for the social they gave for the benefit of myself. I also received $96.00.

The People's Store

You are cordially invited to attend the

Grand Fall Opening

OF OUR Millinery Department

Tuesday, Oct., 1st, DAY AND EVENING.

Store Open in the Evening, But No Goods Sold.

Incidentally with our Fall Millinery opening, we beg leave to announce the GENERAL OPENING for fall and winter of every department in this big store. The store will be open in the evening to enable you to come in and look around to your heart's content, and every effort will be put forth to make your visit a pleasant one. Every department is perfect in its completeness. In fact, the assortment of seasonable merchandise will be found not only large, but immense, and will far surpass anything to be seen in the state. We would call your special attention to the magnificent displays in the following departments:

Cloaks, Suits, Skirts.

The new fall and winter fashions on display here are the best to be seen anywhere. We are particularly anxious to have you visit our big Cloak and Suit Department on the second floor and inspect the new styles. Our present stock is the largest and best we have ever shown; all the late fashions are fully represented, and the prices, as always, are invariably the lowest.

New 27-in. Box Coats, half fitting backs, box fronts. These Coats are made of extra quality Kersey cloth, well tailored and lined with satin. All colors, as Tan, Oxford, Black, Red, Blue, from $5 to $20.

New Automobile Coats, half fitting backs, storm or coat collars, elegantly tailored and lined with guaranteed satin, from $15 to $30.

New Winter Capes in all lengths, of Kersey cloth, Boucle, Persian, plain or crushed Plush. Prices from $1.50 to $30.

New Fur Capes and Jackets of the latest cut, at prices exceedingly moderate for such high-grade value—$15 to $50.

In Dress Skirts we have everything of the newest styles, either in silk or cloth. A showing that is simply immense, and whether the price be large or small, our values will be found conspicuously big. Skirts from $1.50 to $25 each.

We are showing the very best line of Black Tailor-made Suits in Fort Wayne, from $10 up.

This handsome picture, in colors, of Queen Louise given free with each pair purchased.

SHOE DEPARTMENT.

The Shoe Success.

Queen Quality
THE FAMOUS SHOE FOR WOMEN

Fall Styles Now In.

This is the beginning of our second season in selling "Queen Quality" Shoes, and from the very start the department jumped into popular favor. We have the assurance of hundreds of women that in giving this famous one-price shoe a place in our store we have done them a great service. Of course, we mean those that heretofore have paid $4, $5 and $6 for shoes. They now know that "Queen Quality" is the equal of any of these shoes. We invite all ladies to this opening of fall styles of "Queen Quality." We want you to see and know the shoe that is indeed QUEEN OF ALL. ALL AT ONE PRICE—SHOES, $3, OXFORDS $2.50.

Rugs, Linoleums, Oilcloths.

The success of this new department is fully established and will undoubtedly be increased during the coming season as a result of our unusual price concessions. Our assortment of new Rugs, in all sizes, is very complete, and we are now prepared to show the handsomest collection ever exhibited in Fort Wayne. We ask an inspection by immediate and prospective buyers. LARGE RUGS ARE THE COMING THING.

Wilton Rugs, 9x12, $32.50
Smyrna Rugs, 9x12, $10, $25.
Axminster Rugs 9x12, $25.

Ingrain Rugs, 9x 12, $12.90.

LINOLEUMS AND OILCLOTHS—Of the very newest designs and most durable quality, at prices not to be duplicated anywhere.

Curtains and Draperies.

We could write a page about this magnificent department, and every word the truth. But newspaper space is precious. The most we can do now is to invite you to take a look through this department, and when your needs develop and your inclination to supply them grows—come to us. Everything here in Nottingham, Irish Point, Brussels Net, Tambour, Renaissance, Lace Curtains, Tapestry and Rope Portiers, Upholstery material, Curtain materials by the yard, Door Panels, etc., etc., and this is the place at which to buy them if you want to save money.

China and Glassware.

The business in this department grows and grows. Selling the best wares at lowest prices and always displaying big assortments has made this a very popular place to buy China and Glassware. We are displaying now a handsome collection of Imported Decorated Ware, also plain white Haviland and domestic Ware, Tumblers, Water Sets, Punch Bowl Sets, Salt and Peppers, Cream and Sugar Sets, Toilet Sets, Jardinieres, etc., at prices far below those at exclusive stores. Your inspection of this department opening night is solicited.

Dress Goods, Silks.

THE DRESS GOODS OPENING—No other heading would or could express our meaning half as plainly. It is an opening in every sense of the word, and such an opening as this department never before had. With the product of two continents to pick from, we have selected for your approval what we believe to be the grandest collection of gown fabrics ever shown in this locality. Prices—we have ALL prices, and every desirable weave manufactured. An inspection of this department would be appreciated by us and doubtless prove profitable to you.

Store Open Tuesday Evening, But No Goods Sold.

DIED AT PLYMOUTH.

Amasa Johnson, father of Mrs. C. E. Baker, of this city, died at his home in Plymouth Friday afternoon after an extended illness. Mr. Johnson had been a resident of that section for many years, and was widely known. Mr. and Mrs. Baker had been at his bedside a week when the end came. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon.

GROPING IN THE DARK

That is What a Great Many People in Fort Wayne Have Been Doing in Regard to Medicine.

Read about some far away cure.
It seems like their case.
Don't know—cannot verify it.
How different with Dr. A. W. Chase's

Mrs. E. Shadle, of No. 34 Baker St., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I think Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Meyer Bros. & Co.'s drug store, No. 14 Calhoun St., are an excellent nerve tonic. I found them capable of making my nerves strong and of giving me good, sound natural sleep—two things I lacked, consequently I am pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

The closer the contests the better the sport. But that race Saturday was just a bit too close for comfort.

A cemetery is a place wherein no one desires that scenes of bloodshed shall occur, but if it is true that an attempt has been made to dynamite the tomb of the martyred president at Canton no one will have else to say than that the armed guard stationed there knows what it is there for.

It should be borne in mind that in deciding how to deal with the interurban road now built to the city limits Fort Wayne will in large part be deciding how to deal with half a dozen other interurban lines. If it is made difficult for one line to get into the city capital will not be encouraged to invest in other lines that may be projected to Fort Wayne.

The disaster to a company of the Ninth infantry in the island of Samar is something of a shock to the country. Affairs in the Philippines have been moving so peaceably for some months that the impression was general that serious trouble was at an end. Samar as a matter of fact has not been subdued and pacified and for this reason it appears strange that so small a force has been kept in that island. Of course that force will now be greatly increased and a campaign of much aggressiveness and vigor will be inaugurated, but it will be some time before the bad moral effect of such an insurgent success can wear away.

President Roosevelt's ability to speak German is regarded in Berlin as a happy omen for the maintenance of the friendly relations existing between the two countries. The fact that the president's accomplishment might enable the kaiser's ambassador to converse with the former familiarly and in his native tongue is not a matter of moment, however; for the representatives of Germany abroad are not such poor linguists that they cannot make themselves understood in the language of the countries to which they are accredited. President Roosevelt's two years' residence in Germany as a student, however, may prove to have been of greater consequence. It is impossible for anybody to reside in Germany long enough to become acquainted with the people without learning to esteem them; and, as far as his personal influence may go, President Roosevelt's predisposition to be friendly with the German government and nation may count for something.

NOT ENOUGH BOERS.

A new and interesting view of the South African difficulty is presented by the Cape Colony correspondent of the London Times. This illuminator of British intelligence wrote last month that the difficulty of "fighting distances" has increased with the decrease of the number of the enemy left in the field. "For," he solemnly avers, "the fewer Boers there are left to continue hostilties the easier it becomes for them to split up into small parties and to take refuge in hiding, the harder for us to track them out and to overtake them."

Consequently the war grows harder for the English as the Boers decrease, or, in another way of putting it, the fewer the Boers the harder to conquer them. But this is a hard outlook for the British, since the more successful they are in killing or capturing the Boers the greater will be the difficulties. If only a few hundred Boers should be left the war will become almost "hopeless," as Mr. Kruger says; and the logical conclusion would seem to be that if the Boers were entirely wiped out the war would then become absolutely impossible.

What escape there can be from this dilemma is hard to see unless the British government should assemble its captives from St. Helena, Bermuda and Ceylon and turn them loose again in order to have enough Boers in the field to conquer.

PIONEERS ELECT OFFICERS

OLD SETTLERS' ORGANIZATION IS COMPLETED.

Before adjournment Saturday evening the old settlers of Allen county completed the organization of "The Old Settlers' Association of Allen County" by the election of officers for the coming year. Under the provisions of the constitution the positions of honorary president and vice president are to be filled for life by the two oldest members of the association in point of residence in Allen county. At the present time these are Louis Peltier and Mrs. Lou P. Ferry, whose residence in Allen county dates from 1814—eighty-six years ago. Mr. Peltier and Mrs. Ferry had been invited to occupy seats upon the platform and their election to the positions was received with hearty cheers by the old settlers.

President—John W. Vordermark.
Vice President—Chester Scarlet.
Secretary—Lucien P. Stapleford.
Treasurer—Kilian Baker.

Township Vice Presidents—Aboit township, Wilson Clark; Adams, W. S. Rogers; Cedar Creek, none; Eel River, Wesley Johnson; Jefferson and Jackson, none; Lafayette, Peter Nicodemus; Lake, Elisha Smith; Milan, none; Monroe, John H. Brown; Madison, William Eagy; Maumee, Robert Shirley; Marion, Joseph Falls; Perry, James McComb; Scipio, none; St. Joseph, Edward Ely; Springfield, Charles Starr; Pleasant, William Kennerk; Washington, David Pettit; Wayne, Charles Fairfield.

The vacancies will be filled by the executive committee of the association in the near future.

PIONEERS WERE HEARD.

Following the addresses of Judge O'Rourke and Henry C. Hanna a number of the old pioneers were heard in reminiscent remarks of an informal character. Among those who spoke were David F. Comparet, Louis Peltier, Henry Fletter and Elisha Smith, and their talks of the long ago were received with genuine interest. Another highly enjoyable feature was the "New Country Song," rendered by Joseph Falls, and the singer was vociferously applauded. It was a melody of pioneer days and was enthusiastically received.

The closing address by William Bradford Dickson, of the First Church of Christ Scientist, was an oratorical gem, and throughout it breathed the loftiest sentiment of tribute to the sturdy character, the unfailing courage and the unselfish labors of the pioneers.

Up until adjournment there were additions to the register of members of the association and still others have been added today. President Vordermark is confident the association will have a membership of several hundred within a short time. The officers are considering the matter of holding a pioneers' picnic at Swinney park before the coming of cold weather.

HE PREACHED WITH VIGOR

REV. BAILEY DISCOURSES OF NATIONAL DANGERS.

"God's Warning to a Nation" was the subject of a vigorous sermon by Rev. J. Webster Bailey at Plymouth Congregational church last evening. The preacher saw in the recent tragic events that have appalled the country the warning of lurking dangers. In part he said:

"Recent events in our national life have brought us to a halt, as a man is suddenly brought up by the sharp challenge of a midnight sentinel. Will he heed God's latest warning?

"How like a dream—a nightmare—seem these late dreadful events! Are we awake? Have we roused ourselves from sleep? Shall national toleration pass, once again, by insensible stages, into national indifference, because, as a people, we will not be warned of God? Shall American laws continue to protect the lives and property of those who have dedicated themselves to the most pestilential doctrines that men ever disseminated among their fellows? Let us cease crying, 'How long, O Lord!' and say to the best manhood of this country, 'How long, O men!'

"What further warning does this nation need to open wide its eyes, and punish with intelligent relentlessness the disseminators of viperous literature, before its poison courses in the veins of malcontents and spurs them on to commit murder?

"I am no pessimist, as you know. I look for the daybreak after every night, no matter how black it has been, nor how hard the storm has beaten. And I look now for a widespread awakening to the necessity of such legislation as shall make it fatal to the comfort of any so-called man or woman whose words, verbal or printed, incite others to deeds of violence. Aye, I believe that we will begin to regard other dangers with far less of tolerance than heretofore. The same spirit now roused to prevent the spread of poisonous literature and to inspect the quality of those who come to our shores from foreign lands, will, I doubt not, insist on the renovation of our cities and towns in other ways.

"When I observe a swarm of flies hovering around molasses I cannot help drawing the conclusion that the two have some sort of affinity for one another. By the same token, when I see that murderers and the perpetrators of such crimes nerve themselves for striking the murderous blow by imbibing strong drink, I am forced to believe that these two things are in close fellowship. Where do anarchists hold their secret meeting places? Where do they assemble to hatch their plans for the assassination of presidents and emperors?

"My dear friends, this country is not always going to live a pretence. It will see now with clearer vision. And if it see and act, then only will the words of Carter Harrison one week ago last Thursday become true, when he said, looking at the pageant passing before his eyes as a tribute to the worth of the martyred president: 'This is worth the sacrifice!'

"Freedom, if it come, is worth the shedding of a nation's best blood. And it is said of him who gave his blood for the redemption of the race, 'He shall see of the travail of His soul, and be satisfied.'

"But let me ask you men a question. If one of the merchants here in Fort Wayne went down to his store on Sunday, and slipped into the rear door, and quietly let it be known that he did business there the same as on other days, with all who would come around the back way, would you not enter your protest as soon as you found it out, and insist that he obey the law and close up shop on Sunday with the rest of you? I think you would. Is there any class of men in the community so privileged that they are exempt from this law of the state and of the city?

"Theroretically you answer, 'No.' Practically you say, 'Yes.'

"If this sufferance is to be extended to any class let it be to those who deal in harmless commodities, not ot those who deal out poison. If one is a law-breaker, then these are law-breakers. And I say here tonight that it is a monstrous farce and a burlesque of the best sentiments of an American citizen for a man who willingly breaks the law of his state to display in his window the face of the martyred president. That man is an enemy to his country, a disgrace to the flag, for he has allied himself in the most practical way with law-breakers. Can we not see that the selling of intoxicating liquors cares for no man the right to violate the law any more than does the selling of dry goods or hardware?

"We have heard a good deal of talk about the need of restricting the freedom of speech. What limits to place upon freedom of speech is a question for the most careful statesmanship to handle. Malicious and sensational utterances, whose evident purpose it is to create discontent with the government, or to incite to deeds of violence, should be treated as dangerous to all the best interests of the country. Freedom is not to be interpreted by the definition of license. To compel a man to talk decently can hardly be construed as curtailing his freedom of speech. If any one thinks so his definition of freedom is wrong in a country where every man has equal rights with every other.

"It is comparatively easy to distinguish between attacks on the fundamental principles of our government and attacks on men who are running for office, some of whom need to have their past thoroughly ventilated. The first is anarchistic, the other, though open to criticism, is not. One can hardly imagine where the line could be drawn which would place a limit on the freedom of speech and the liberty of the press touching the criticism of public men.

"If, every time a criticism of a certain man appeared in the papers which he thought was too drastic, or a cartoon which he believed was too true to life, and he had recourse to the law on the ground that his character was assailed, perhaps it would be discovered that he did not have any character at all, and the papers were doing a public favor by making this evident in their unique way.

"I m persuaded that the solid, dignified common sense of our best journals and newspapers, to whom we are overwhelmingly indebted for the prompt dissemination of the news we want to know and ought to know, is itself competent to deal with this question.

"What is cheap and sensational is instantly sized up as such, and it goes only for what it is worth. What is wholesome and good carries its own credentials with it, and the people are quick to disdeem them. There is a sufficiently large per cent of our daily newspapers that deprecate the abuse of public men and that clearly see the mischievous effect on the young of ridiculing those personages who represent law and order to not only set a good example in this respect, but teach that good journalism in America means loyalty to the government.

"Let me quote here the words of William Prentiss, a leading member of the Chicago bar, touching a proposed restriction of speech: 'The cool judgment of intellectual America will be very slow to put in jeopardy that liberty which has cost so much to obtain, but for which the world would yet be in darkness, and in chains, and without which progress would be impossible, and life itself of little value.'"

CONCORDIA COLLEGE FARM BUILDINGS BURNED.

Less Is Estimated at $2,000—Barn of John P. Evans Gutted Early This Morning.

Fire broke out in one of the barns of Concordia college farm, corner of Walton avenue and Pontiac street, on Sunday afternoon at 3:40 and before the flames were under control several barns and outbuildings, together with a large straw stack, were entirely consumed. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

A large quantity of hay and oats was stored in the buildings, besides farm implements and several wagons, all of which were destroyed. Several pigs were quartered in a small enclosure outside one of the barns, and while the fire was at its height the animals dashed into the flames and were roasted to death.

An alarm at 2:50 this morning called the department to extinguish a bad blaze in the barn of John P. Evans, 126 East Main street. The fire had gained considerable headway before being discovered and before the flames were under control the upper part of the building had been burned away. The loss on the building and contents is estimated at $500.

RED RIBBON MEETING.

Secretary Will H. Fleming, of the Red Ribbon meeting, left today for Terre Haute to attend the races there in the interest of the races here next week. The entries for the Red Ribbon races close tomorrow night and there is every indication that all the classes will be filled bang up, that the races will be good, the horses of the best and the meeting a pronounced success. Today eight representatives left for various towns where race meetings are in progress this week to secure entries before the close of the books tomorrow evening. The gentlemen who are thus interesting themselves and the meetings they have gone to attend are as follows: Will H. Fleming, Terre Haute; Joe Evans, Portland; Garl Hale, Wapakoneta; Henry Monning, Kendallville; G. L. Chisholm, Hillsdale; Willis Pearse, Hamilton, Ohio; Charles Hauvert, Springfield, Ill.; George H. Brown, Chicago.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

There was a large attendance at the Aboit township Sunday school convention Sunday. Interesting addresses were made by A. Bowersox, J. C. F. McMakin, Rev. J. H. Wingate, Rev. W. H. Clay and others. The following township officers were elected for the coming year: Township president, E. O. Clay; vice president, A. J. Hyatt; superintendent of home department, A. Bowersox; secretary and treasurer, Baker Kennedy. The Hyatt quartet rendered excellent music.

ABOUT THE COURT HOUSE

The circuit court jury came in this morning according to order and was promptly discharged until next Monday.

Testimony was being taken today in the circuit court looking to the consignment to the feebleminded institute of Eva Herderson, an adult, refused by the hospital authorities at Richmond, and now a charge on Allen county.

E. J. Woodworth has filed his final report as trustee of the old Wayne club fund and asks to be discharged.

Workmen this morning commenced the erection of the scaffolding for the artists who will this week commence the decorations of the interior of the court house dome The scaffolding of itself is a pretty tremendous affair. The work was sub-let by Contractor Adams to a local carpenter.

Sheriff Stout this morning, under protest, appointed a matron for the county jail; his wife, Mrs. Catherine Stout, was the appointee. The law requires that all counties with a population of more than 50,000 shall have a matron at the county jail, who shall be appointed by the sheriff. The law also fixes her salary at $50 a month, but does not provide who shall pay such salary. The law does not authorize the county commissioners to pay it and does not instruct the sheriff to pay it. It does, however, expressly stipulate that a matron shall be appointed. Acting under advice of the county attorney and the county commissioners, Sheriff Stout this morning appointed his wife. When the question of providing funds is settled the sheriff will probably make another appointment, but as long as it looks as though the whole business might terminate in a labor of love, he prefers to keep the credit in his own family, which no one can charge as being discreditable. In response to inquiries directed to the sheriffs at Terre Haute and Evansville, he was informed that in the counties in which those cities are situated the county council had made appropriations of $50 a month for the salary of matron and that so far as they knew the appropriation is legal. Sheriff Stout will present the matter as soon as the council meets again, and in the meantime has complied with the law as best he understood it.

Mothers, be sure and use Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for your children while cutting teeth. It is the best remedy of all. maySeod&w

John L. Stoddard's Lectures

An Epitome of the World's Treasures That Have Been Accumulating for 6,000 Years.

NOTHING COMMON-PLACE ONLY THE BEST, IN NATURE, ART, ARCHITECTURE, HISTORY, BIOGRAPHY AND HUMANITY.

4,000 Pages, 4,000 Illustrations.

Think of 35 years of Preparation.

MR. STODDARD READ AND CONSULTED MORE THAN 10,000 VOLUMES ON THE HISTORY, LITERATURE, LANGUAGE, RELIGION, GOVERNMENT, MANNERS AND CUSTOMS OF PEOPLE IN ALL PARTS OF THE HABITABLE GLOBE, SO THAT WHEN HE CAME TO VISIT THEM LATER, HE SHOULD BE FAMILIAR WITH JUST WHAT HE WISHED TO SEE AND KNOW.

Then Traveled Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand Miles

WITH HIS OWN SPECIAL ARTISTS. FOR 10 YEARS HE TRAVELED MORE THAN 250,000 MILES, LIVING RIGHT AMONG THE PEOPLE, AND SECURING PHOTOGRAPHS ON THE SPOT OF THE MOST SUBLIME SCENERY, WONDERFUL RUINS, TEMPLES, SHRINES, GREAT ENGINEERING FEATS AND PECULIAR PEOPLE IN ALL LANDS.

And These are The Identical Lectures

INTERURBAN RIDE

FIRST TRAIN RUNS OVER THE SOUTHWESTERN.

EXCURSION TO HUNTINGTON

FORT WAYNE CITIZENS AND OFFICIALS GO.

NEW LINE IS WELL BUILT

CITIZENS OF HUNTINGTON VERY HOSPITABLE.

Interurban roads for Fort Wayne are no longer a dim possibility of the future and are no longer a prospect surrounded with doubt and having an actual existence only on paper and the maps of the festive promoter.

The first train has come and gone, the chimera has been dissolved and the interurban road has a real, live existence that moves and has a being and can be seen with the naked eye. It is true that, owing to conditions which should not exist, the road has not yet been constructed through the streets of the city, yet it has extended itself inside the limits and it is hoped will soon stretch its sinuous length to the very heart of Fort Wayne.

AN INSPECTION PARTY.

On invitation of Manager Nelson and his associates in the Southwestern Traction company about one hundred and twenty Fort Wayne gentlemen took a trip from this city to Huntington over the company's lines last Saturday. The visiting party was heterogeneous in composition, but very homogeneous in sentiment. There were lawyers and doctors, capitalists and bankers, city and county officials, merchants and mechanics, newspaper men and politicians. The start was made from the company's bridge at Taylor street, which was as far down town as the track has been sufficiently lined up to carry cars, and it was a good spot to start from, anyway. At this point two of the handsome new cars of the company were found waiting, and as it was soon seen that two cars would not accommodate the party, an ordinary flat car, used for construction purposes, was pressed into service, and it was the best one in the bunch for observation purposes. Chairs were scattered about in regular boudoir style and the car was voted a pronounced success. The seat of honor in the middle was occupied by Mayor Berghoff, who had earlier declared his intention of remaining at home. He could not stand the pressure, however, and was finally induced to become one of the party. Before the train started there was the usual succession of camera shots, and photographs of the first interurban train were taken by Artist Miner from every available point of view.

FIRST TRAIN STARTS.

Finally the shrill toot of the steam whistle announced that the minute of departure was at hand and in a moment the chug of the locomotive resounded, the wheels began to turn and the first passenger train was under way. For it must be remembered that in this trip a locomotive was necessary. The company's power house at Huntington is not yet completed, although the massive Corliss engines have been set up for a month or more and work is progressing rapidly. The great steel strike prevented the contractors from getting steel for the structural work of the building. So, in order to get the necessary transportation power, the company construction engine was hitched on to the cars and the trip was regularly made, only that it was an electric car trip by steam power, but that did not detract from the interest. After the train started and the cigars had been duly distributed by uniformed waiters, the guests of the company betook themselves to enjoying the beauties of the surroundings. Many years ago locomotion was practiced along the same line, but it was of a different character.

THE OLD MULE ROUTE.

Along the whole line of the road, half a century ago, the patient mule took the place of the locomotive and canal boats glided along the same route where now the train was moving. The first eight or ten miles of the track going westward from Fort Wayne are rather rough, inasmuch as in some parts the ballasting is onl partly completed and in some not even commenced. Over this portion of the road the run was of necessity slow, but the limited rate of speed did not detract from the interest of the occasion. Charles McCulloch was aboard and he detailed with much interest how the twelve hundred acres of his farm through which the train was then passing was a comparatively few years ago, for the most part, little less than waste land. Adjoining his big farm came the farm of J. C. Peters, and that gentleman, also present, pointed out several bunches of cattle grazing on the lowlands, which was a few years ago an almost inaccessible swamp. The Bash farm was next in line and the venerable S. Bash being spied directing the devious progress of a plow, the train was stopped and he was invited to get aboard, but the invitation was declined. Then T. E. Ellison pointed across the prairie and located his Mondamin Meadows farm buildings, which lie about half a mile or so from the Southwestern track. The gravel pit was next reached, and here the train was again stopped while a load of gravel was picked up and taken back up the track, the purpose being to give the excursionists an opportunity of seeing how the ballast was unloaded and distributed by the use of the Rodgers patent ballast cars and plows.

TRACK WELL BALLASTED.

From the point on the track is perfectly ballasted, the joints are up and the rail is as level as that of any trunk line in the country. Good time was made from there to Roanoke, and while speed was no object on the trip, just to show that it could be done, the engineer opened her up a bit and a short stretch was done at the rate of forty miles an hour. Roanoke was reached about an hour late, but the whole town seemed to have turned out to welcome the first train, and a number of Roanoke citizens joined the party there. Henry C. Paul declined an opportunity to make a speech and Attorney Doughman, counsellor for the company, could not be induced to say anything more than ask one of the citizens for an apple. A mile or two beyond Roanoke the second gravel pit was reached and here the train was again stopped to see the workings of the big steam shovel, which loads gravel on the cars at the rate of a yard a minute, and with a capacity of three cars an hour when pushed, each car containing thirty yards. From the gravel pit the run was quickly made, and as the city of Huntington was approached the progress of the construction of the road was made noticeable every mile. The road is building from Huntington east, and consequently by the system used the most complete portion of the road is that nearest the other end.

A PERFECT ROAD.

About five miles this side of Huntington the road is complete, which means that it is perfected ballasted, the track is leveled, the trolleys are strung, the tension wires are in place, the telephone wires are ready for use, the right of way is enclosed on both sides with a neat woven wire fence, and the poles are painted—the upper portion white, and the butts black. Talking about poles, the writer, who has seen many lines of telegraph and other pole construction, completed and under way, never saw as symetrical a piece of work in his life. Each pole is straight, is hand shaved, is set in perfect alignment with its neighbor, and along a straight piece of track the line of poles looks like a well built picket fence of huge proportions. Arrived at Huntington, the party was obliged to disembark about 600 feet east of the Chicago and Erie railroad crossing and walk to the power house, which lies just beyond the railroad tracks. The subway under the Erie tracks is not yet completed, owing to the inability of the contractor to get the necessary stone. The difficulty, as previously stated in these columns, lies between the stone quarry owners and the Big Four railroad at Greensburg, Ind. About seventy more car loads are necessary to complete the job. As above related the power house is incomplete, but work is progressing as rapidly as the material can be secured. At the power house a pleasant surprise awaited the Fort Wayne party.

A CORDIAL RECEPTION.

The people of Huntington had evidently made a determined effort to give the visitors a cordial welcome, and they succeeded in doing it. About fifty vehicles, from single buggies to three-seated traps, nearly all rubber tired, were in waiting, and the excursionists were piled into them whether or no. A drive all around the city was the first thing on the program, and after the drive was completed the Fort Wayneites were turned loose for half an hour to stretch their legs. The first stop made by the long procession of carriages was at St. Mary's Catholic church, one of the finest in the city and a very pretty piece of architectural work and design. Huntington was shown up in its best light and nothing was kept hidden under a bushel or elsewhere. After the drive was abandoned some refreshments and a light lunch were provided at Manager Nelson's expense and shortly after 5 o'clock all the excursionists had again been delivered at the impromptu station near the Erie tracks. The ride home was more rapid than the down trip, until darkness overtook the train, after which progress was of necessity slow, for safety's sake, the darkness being at the rough end of the road. It was about 7:30 when the crowd disembarked at the Taylor street bridge, and there was but one sentiment, and that was that interurban roads and Manager Nelson are the best two things that ever happened.

WHAT SHALL WE EAT

To Keep Healthy and Strong?

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best, in spite of the claims made by vegetarians and food cranks generally.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables or grains.

Dr. Julius Remusson on this subject says: Nervous persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat plenty of meat. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be easily strengthened by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three or four hours, while the malt diastase also contained in Stuart's Tablets cause the perfect digestion of starchy foods, like potatoes, bread, etc., and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply the pepsin and diastase so necessary to perfect digestion, and any form of indigestion and stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach will be overcome by their daily use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its complete digestion by the systematic use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, composed of the natural digestive principles, peptones and diastase, which actually perform the work of digestion and give the abused stomach a chance to rest and to furnish the body and brain with the necessary nutriment. Cheap cathartic medicines masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless for relief or cure of indigestion, because they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the indigestion is to make daily use at meal time of a safe preparation which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles, and all this can truly be said of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A YOUTHFUL THIEF.

Albert Cramer, a lad of ten years, was up before Police Judge Louttit this afternoon, charged with stealing a horse at the corner of Lewis and Calhoun streets on Saturday. The little fellow admitted that he stole the horse and said that he tried to sell the outfit at prices ranging from $50 down to $2. This is the fourth time young Cramer has been before the court. Once for stealing a watch, once for stealing $2 from his sister and once for some other theft. The judge gave him a lecture, pictured to him the horrors of the reform school at Plainfield, and turned him over to his mother with instructions to send him to school. Young Cramer was as much impressed by the lecture and his position as he would have been had the judge handed him a stick of chewing gum.

VIEWED FROM A DISTANCE.

[Indianapolis News.]

There are murky times, indeed, in the political affairs of that rock-ribbed citadel of Bryan democracy, Allen county and the city of Fort Wayne, when a gentleman like Michael V. Walsh, an ardent candidate until now for the democratic nomination for county auditor, withdraws from the canvass because of the reckless management of the auditor's office, and the demoralization of county affairs generally. Recently the county auditor confessed himself a defaulter, but asserted that he could make restitution in time for the next quarterly settlement. His bondsmen, however, were skeptical, and they instituted an inquiry which resulted in the auditor being deposed de facto, while he continued auditor de jure; the bondsmen placing a personal representative in charge of affairs. Then an expert examination ordered by the county commissioners was heard from, increasing the shortage threefold over the deficiency admitted by the defaulter in his original confession, and there is a feeling throughout Allen county that the worst is not yet known. For many years the county and city have been dominated by a ring, which apportioned the offices and managed affairs with a careless hand, until the evident result of such carelessness and extravagance confronts the taxpaying public in the conditions now presented. However, it will blow over. It always does blow over in Allen county, for whenever inquiry becomes too impertinent, the leaders have but to raise the cry that the ticket is endangered, not only in the county of Allen, but in the state at large, and the average Allen county taxpayer makes haste to drop his dissent, so that his loyalty to party can not be questioned. Because of this the evil has grown, and there is no relief in sight.

EDITORS ELECT OFFICERS.

Elkhart, Ind., Sept. 28.—The Northern Indiana Editorial association, at its meeting in this city, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, E. A. Jernegan, Mishawaka; first vice president, John W. Barnes, Logansport; second vice president, Bent Wilson, of Lafayette; third vice president, W. D. Page, of Fort Wayne; secretary and treasurer, J. S. Conlogue, Kendallville. These officers and the following constitute the executive committee: J. B. Stoll, J. E. McDonald, C. W. Metsger, F. D. Haimbaugh, of Muncie, and J. A. Kautz, of Kokomo. The delegates to the National Editorial association meeting to be held at Hot Springs, Ark., in 1902, are Bayard Gray, of Frankfort; Dale Crittenberger, of Anderson; C. B. Unger, of Middletown; J. B. Stoll, A. P. Kent, J. A. Barnes and F. D. Haimbaugh; alternates, C. D. Tillo, J. W. Barnes, Gordon Murray, S. B. McManus, of Elkhart; Bent Wilson, of Lafayette; H. S. K. Bartholemew, of Warsaw, and Charles Haas, of Wabash. South Bend was selected as the place of the next meeting, the executive committee to fix the date.

FIGHTS WITH UNTAMED LION.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 28.—Steve Lawrence, the lion tamer of the Bostock-Ferari animal show, exhibiting at the Elks' carnival in this city, last night narrowly escaped death in a combat with the untamed lion Wallace. Prof. Lawrence had completed his act and while making his exit from the cage slipped and fell. The big lion was upon him in an instant. The animal was fought off by the attendants with iron bars after Prof. Lawrence had sustained injuries and his clothes nearly torn off. Attending physicians say he will recover.

SPEED OF VARIOUS FISH.

The dolphin is credited with a speed of considerably over twenty miles an hour. For short distances the salmon can outstrip any other fish, accomplishing twenty-five miles an hour with ease. The Spanish mackerel is one of the fastest of food fishes and cuts the water like a yacht. Predatory fishes are generally the fastest swimmers.

Last year there were registered in Paris somewhat over 5,000 motor carriages and about 11,000 motor cycles, the latter comprising motor bicycles, motor tricycles and the like. Practically all of the French automobiles have been of the internal-combustion type.

NEWS OF THE DIAMOND

This week closes the season of a memorable base ball year. It also marks the termination of the national agreement by limitation, although the agreement may be renewed. Such a contingency is, however, improbable unless different conditions prevail. and at any rate nothing definite can be determined upon for some months. What Fort Wayne has been mostly interested in was, of course, the Western association and its clubs. Notwithstanding the welching tactics of Deacon Ellis, the turn-tail-and-run policy of Watkins, of Indianapolis, and the failure of Louisville to support Wilmot's team, the association pulled through safely and with a full membership at the close. The war between the National league and the American league did not make any money for the latter association and the "big boys" as usual came out ahead on the financial proposition. and that is all there is to it, anyway. Chicago made a determined fight, and while the American league team under Comiskey won the American league pennant, Tom Loftus' rank tail-enders in the old National made the money. Pittsburg, who were rated by only one base ball authority at and before the commencement of the '01 season as the pennant winners, made good the kind words of their sponsor, and although the season does not close until the 6th inst., the Pirates have the flag securely cinched. Fort Wayne was more or less of a St. Louis town, but will see its favorite at the rear end of the first division, but still in it, and the Cincinnati fans, of whom there are a number in Fort Wayne, will have to content themselves with seeing their club finish with seven others ahead of them. The base ball season as it existed this morning is as follows:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Pittsburg	86	47	.647
Philadelphia	77	56	.580
Brooklyn	77	58	.570
St. Louis	73	61	.544
Boston	67	67	.500
New York	52	81	.391
Cincinnati	51	80	.389
Chicago	52	85	.380

GAMES YESTERDAY.

Brooklyn, 4; Chicago, 1.
St. Louis, 9-3; New York, 4-2.
Cincinnati, 2-2; Pittsburg, 1-1.

GAMES TODAY.

Boston at Pittsburg.
New York at St. Louis.
Philadelphia at Cincinnati.

SHAMROCKS WIN AGAIN.

At Muncie yesterday afternoon the Shamrocks defeated Muncie by a score of 8 to 2. Sheppard, the Matthews pitcher, started in to do the club work, but the Shamrocks put him out of the business in five innings. All the Fort Wayne boys hit hard, Cherry and Mahan doing the best stick work. Robbins was too much for the Magic City team. His support was fast. Tieman caught his usual fine game. The game was witnessed by a large crowd. Amos Rusie, the erstwhile king of twirlers, held the indicator. This makes the Shamrocks' fifth straight victory—defeating Tiffin, Logansport, Bremen, Columbia City and Muncie. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Shamrocks	8	16	3
Muncie	2	7	5

Batteries—Robbins and Tieman; Sheppard, Zook, Henderson and Gorman.

SHAMROCKS AT COLUMBIA CITY.

The Shamrocks will leave for Columbia City at 12:15 tomorrow noon, via the Pittsburg, where they will play the Bremen Greens. Bremen is coming loaded for the Shamrocks, but if the Fort Wayne aggregation keep up their present gait they will win the game.

NEWS OF THE GRIDIRON.

The high school team easily defeated the International Business college eleven at League park Saturday afternoon, by a score of 17 to 0. The result was somewhat of a surprise for the business college rooters, as it was thought the team could put up a much stiffer game. McBennett, Coppock and Hutzell were the star performers on the business college eleven, while Preston, McCormick, Parry and Wilt played a brilliant game for the high school. Wilt's recovery of a fumble and sprint of fifty yards for a touchdown was the signal for much rooting by the high school sympathizers. The business college team lost every chance for a score by fumbling, and were unable to hold the ball for more than four downs during the entire game. It was the first game of the season for both teams, however, and much better things are expected later on. The officials were: Referee, Brown; umpire, Menzies; linesmen, Hamilton and Reitze; timekeepers, Smith and Parry.

The Nebraska team has been organized for the season and the line-up is as follows: Right end, E. Wolf; right tackle, J. Stover; right guard, O. Hutzell; center, Donahue; left guard, O. Loos; left tackle, Hamilton; left end, E. Hutsell; right half back, J. Falvy; full back, T. Seitz; left half back, J. McCarthy; quarter back, Shoenbine. Teams desiring games will address Todd Seitz, 10 Elm street.

The Saturday high school-business college game was well patronized and the High School Athletic association will net a neat sum for the athletic fund.

Fort Wayne has six good foot ball teams, the greatest number in years, and some excellent games will be witnessed at League park between now and December.

Raynor's questioning developed considerable discrepancy between what Captain Jewell thought he had coal enough to do and what he actually did have enough to do.

He was excused and Captain McCalla recalled to correct his testimony. In response to question Captain McCalla said that it would not have been possible to see the Spanish ships if they had been in the harbor at Cienfuegos. Court adjourned for luncheon when Captain McCalla had finished.

ADMIRAL EVANS HEARD.

When the court convened for the afternoon session Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, who, as captain, commanded the battleship Iowa during the battle of Santiago, was called to the witness stand.

He stated that he had first joined the flying squadron off Cienfuegos on May 22 at 1 p. m., when he took dispatches from Admiral Sampson to Commodore Schley. These dispatches he had sent to Commodore Schley by his executive officer, Commander Rogers, he not seeing the commodore himself. As tho dispatches were sealed he did not know their contents.

Judge Advocate—"Please state what, if anything, was done while the squadron was off Cienfuegos toward developing the fact as to whether the Spanish squadron under Admiral Cervera was or was not in the harbor of Cienfuegos?"

"There was nothing done so far as I know."

"What, if anything, within your knowledge was done toward destroying or preventing the further completion of the enemy's batteries in the vicinity of Cienfuegos?"

STOOD IN THEN STOOD OFF.

"On Sunday afternoon, I am quite sure it was, Commodore Schley formed his squadron in columns and stood in to a range of a about a mile and a half from short, made a turn and stood out again. That is the only thing I know."

"Was any attack made upon the enemy or by the enemy at that time?"

"No. They all got up and stood on the breastworks and looked at us. We steamed out again. There was no firing on either side."

"Were you then within range of the batteries in the vicinity of Cienfuegos with the heavier guns of your ship?"

"I did not see any batteries. There was a work they were completing there."

"Were you within range of this?"

"Quite easy range, yes."

"The battery of the Iowa consisted of what?"

"Four twelve-inch, eight eight-inch and twelve four-inch guns."

"Were those embryo batteries within range of your eight-inch guns when you steamed in?"

IN EASY RANGE.

"They were within easy range."

"Were they within range of the four-inch guns?"

"I should thing so, yes."

"Did the Iowa coal ship while in Cienfuegos and if so how much did she take?"

"We took in 250 tons of coal on the 23rd. We began about 7 in the morning and stopped at 6 in the afternoon. We took coal from a collier alongside the Merrimac, I think."

Admiral Evans said that he had coaled the Iowa from the Merrimac on May 23 while off Cienfuegos and that he had no difficulty in doing so.

THE WEATHER.

Speaking of the condition of the weather made by the Iowa on May 24 and 25, the witness said that on the evening of the 24th it was squally; that on the morning of the 25th the sky was overcast and that the weather was again squally, on the afternoon it was worse, there being a good deal of rain with a long sea.

He said that after leaving Cienfuegos the vessel had steamed to a point about thirty miles south of Santiago, arriving there on the evening of the 26th, and that at that time the squadron was heading to the east. The weather at that time, he said, was not such as to prevent the coaling of ships at that date. The Iowa at that time had about 825 tons of coal aboard, or sufficient for steaming 3,000 miles.

On blockade the ship used about thirty or forty tons of coal a day.

"Why was the retrograde movement made?" asked Judge Advocate Lemley.

"I do not know," was the reply.

The witness said he could have coaled at sea on the 27th, as the sea was smooth.

"Was any effort made by the flying squadron on May 28, 29 or 30 to communicate with the insurgents on shore near Santiago?"

"None to my knowledge."

BOMBARDMENT OF COLON.

Testifying that he had first seen the Colon on May 29th, Admiral Evans said that the vessel was not inside the harbor at all, but was about 1,500 yards inside the Morro.

He then detailed the particulars of the bombardment of the Colon on May 31, saying that on the forenoon of that day Commodore Schley had signalled to transfer his flag to the Massachusetts; that he was going in to engage the Colon. Describing that engagement the witness said:

"About five minutes to 1 I saw the first shot from the Massachusetts fall short a long distance and supposing she was firing at 7,000 yards I gave the range to my guns 8,000 yards. I saw these shots fall short and increased the range to 9,000 yards. After the Massachusetts had passed the entrance to the harbor she turned with port helm and steamed back, the New Orleans and the Iowa following. On the run back across the harbor I again fired at 10,000 yards, the shots still fell short, and as the Massachusetts and New Orleans slowed down and stopped after they got across I slowed my engines, then increased the range to 11,000 yards, and fired two shots from the forward twelve-inch turret. The first one was fired by Lieutenant Van Dueser at 11,000 yards.

SHOT FELL SHORT.

"I saw that it fell short. Lieutenant Hill had the other gun in that turret. I gave him the range at 11,500 yards and he fired and that shot struck very near the stern of the Colon. Both twelve-inch guns were disabled at the fire from that extreme elevation. Afterward we stood a mile and half, possibly two miles, to our blockading station again. That was all I saw done to injure the Colon."

The witness was then asked about the blockade off Santiago under Commodore Schley. He said the squadron stood seven or eight miles out during the day time and a little farther out at night, with the Vixen and the Marblehead on the inside at night. The judge advocate asked the witness concerning a statement by a lieutenant of the Spanish navy, printed by the navy department, to the effect that at dark the American ships withdrew to the southward, disappearing.

The introduction of this book was objected to and Admiral Dewey said: "The witness has already told what distance was maintained by the fleet. We don't care for that kind of information. Admiral Evans was there and can answer for himself. We want facts; not newspaper articles."

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Corn had a quiet opening on the board of trade today, December starting ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher at 56½c to 56⅞c on depressed cables. The offerings at first were moderate, but soon gave way under December local buying, which seemed to indicate a market heavily short over Sunday. Under this influence December advanced to 57½c, but on the rise there was a quantity of the cereal offered in small lots all over the pit and prices eased to 56⅞@57c. Trade was mostly quiet. Receipts were 354 cars.

Corn early lost the slight support from commission houses and December declined to 56¼c. Later on shorts covering December closed easy ⅜c lower at 56⅝c.

Trade in wheat at the opening was dull, December starting a shade lower to a shade higher at 70⅛c to 70¼c on indifferent cables. The reaction in corn was helpful, and on St Louis buying December advanced to 70½c. Local receipts were 139 cars, 4 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth received 1,412 cars, making a total for the three points of 1,551 cars, against 1,179 last week and 1,207 a year ago. The world's wheat shipments were 8,778,000 bushels last week, compared with 9,344,000 bushels a week ago and 8,258,000 bushels last year. Wheat on passage decreased 1,080,000 bushels.

Following corn, December wheat declined to 69⅞@70c and closed easy a shade higher at 70⅛c.

Oats started quiet, December opening a shade to ⅛c lower in sympathy with corn and under light custom house selling, but following the reaction in corn and on a fairly good support advanced to 35⅝c. Receipts were 248 cars.

Provisions had a dull opening with but one or two sales during the first hour. January pork opened 7½c higher at $16.22½ in sympathy with a higher hog market and sold to $16.25. January lard opened unchanged at $9.50, and January ribs 5c up at $8.40.

THE CLOSE.

Prices at the close were as follows:

Wheat—Sept., 68⅝c; Oct., 68⅝@68½c; Dec., 70¼c; May, 73⅞@73¾c.

Corn—Sept., 54⅞c; Oct., 54c⅞; Dec., 56⅝c; May, 58⅜c.

Oats—Sept., 34⅝c; Dec., 35¾@35½c; May, 37⅝c.

Pork — Sept., $14.62½; Oct., $14.62½; Jan., $16.00; May, $16.12½.

Lard—Sept., $9.92½; Oct., $9.87½; Nov., $9.70; Dec., $9.45; Jan., $9.30@9.32½; May, $9.32½.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 30.—The market was weak at the opening, heavy offerings of Amalgamated Copper carrying it down ¼. There were losses of 1 to 1⅛ for St. Paul, Anaconda, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific preferred, Manhattan, Rock Island and Canada Southern. Three thousand five hundred shares of United States Steel sold at 43¾ to 44, compared with 44¼ on Saturday. The preferred stock was up ¼, the only stock on the list to show a gain. New York, Chicago and St. Louis broke sharply 3¾.

The selling movement extended to various other inatcive and prominent stocks which lost between 1 and 2¾ points, the latter New York, Chicago and St. Louis second preferred. Supporting orders then appeared in Amalgamated and Manhattan and their rallies of a point caused some improvement in railroad stocks. New York Central dividend, Pacific Mail, St. Louis Southestern preferred and Keokuk and Des Moines preferred were exceptionally strong and sold from 1 to 3¼ over Saturday's close with the latter leading.

The rally was checked by renewed liquidation in Amalgamated, which fell to 88⅞. Acute weakness developed in other leaders, losses reaching 2 to 2⅜ in St. Paul, Rock Island, Consolidated Gas, Missouri Pacific and Kansas and Texas preferred. United States Steel fell a point. Prices generally reached the lowest of the morning and later rallies were feeble and not well sustained.

Bonds were irregular.

THE MONEY MARKET.

New York, Sept. 30.—Money on call steady at 4 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 4¾@5½ per cent; sterling exchange easier with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.85½@4.85¾ for demand and at $4.82@4.83¼ for 60 days; posted rates, $4.84 and $4.86½; commercial bills, $4.82@4.83; silver certificates unquoted; bar silver, 58⅛c; Mexican dollars, 45½c.

No External Symptoms.

The blood may be in bad condition, yet with no external signs, no skin eruption or sores to indicate it. The symptoms in such cases being a variable appetite, poor digestion, an indescribable weakness and nervousness, loss of flesh and a general run-down condition of the system—clearly showing the blood has lost its nutritive qualities, has become thin and watery. It is in just such cases that S. S. S. has done some of its quickest and most effective work by building up the blood and supplying the elements lacking to make it strong and vigorous.

"My wife used several bottles of S. S. S. as a blood purifier and to tone up a weak and emaciated system, with very marked effect by way of improvement.

"We regard it a great tonic and blood purifier."—J. F. DUFF, Princeton, Mo.

S. S. S. is the greatest of all tonics, and you will find the appetite improves at once, strength returns, and nervousness vanishes as new rich pure blood once more circulates through all parts of the system.

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known. It contains no minerals whatever. Send for our free book on blood and skin diseases and write our physicians for any information or advice wanted. No charge for medical advice.

SHOP AND RAIL

SUNDAY EXCURSION BUSINESS CLOSED IN GOOD SHAPE.

BRAKEMAN GUS MEYERS HURT

HARRY M'KINLEY RENEWS OLD ACQUAINTANCES.

The closing day of the Sunday excursion season was not one of the best of the summer, but it was a surprise to the railway people, for the crowds on the various excursions were larger than expected. The Grand Rapids and Indiana road took 560 people into Cincinnati, 333 of them from Fort Wayne. The same road had about 195 to Rome City, most of them fishermen. The Lake Erie and Western had big crowds in and out of the city. That road brought in 491 people from Muncie and points north of that city, and sold 367 tickets at this point for Indianapolis. The Wabash had two excursion trains out of the city yesterday, and both were well filled. The westbound train carried 119 of our people to Danville and picked up many more en route, and the eastbound train had aboard 258 Fort Wayne people, 199 to Toledo and fifty-nine to Detroit. This crowd received additions at all stations also, and the train went into Toledo well filled. The Cincinnati excursion of the Grand Rapids road was the second best of the season. The best record was 400 excursionists for that point out of this city.

NOW TRAVELING SALESMAN.

Harry B. Fitzpatrick, for several years engaged upon special work in the mechanical and motive power departments of the Pennsylvania, resigned Saturday evening, and this morning went to Chicago to assume a position with Sargent & Co., manufacturers and dealers in railway supplies of all description. Mr. Fitzpatrick will spend two or three weeks in the foundry department, familiarizing himself with the products, and will then take the road as a salesman for the firm. He will have headquarters in the Colony building, in Chicago. Mr. Fitzpatrick is a son of Master Mechanic B. Fitzpatrick, of the Pennsylvania shops.

HE VISITS OLD FRIENDS.

Harry McKinley, of Cleveland, a member of a firm extensively engaged in the manufacture of electrical supplies, was the guest of Fort Wayne friends over Sunday, leaving this morning for the west over the Wabash. Mr. McKinley worked in the Pittsburg shops, the Kerr Murray works and the electric works at different times several years ago and is well acquainted with all the men employed there. He called at the Pittsburg shops this morning to see his friends.

SHOP FORCES INCREASE.

Additions to the shop forces of the various railways and manufacturing establishments of the city have been made recently to keep abreast of the increased demand for the products of the establishments which the fall and winter months bring. Foreman G. A. Szink, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, added the names of Louis Keip and H. W. Kartholl to the pay rolls of that department, and Foreman P. J. Scheid, of the roundhouse, gave employment to Benjamin F. Kennedy and William King, who will serve in the capacity of engine cleaner and assistant hostler, respectively. Numerous other applications await the action of the medical examiner. At the electric works, where additions to the force have been numerous lately, Machnist William P. Hart and John Schultz were given positions this morning.

GUS MEYERS HURT.

Gustav G. Meyers, a Pennsylvania brakeman, is in St. Joseph hospital, suffering from injuries received at Hobart, Ind., last Saturday. For two weeks Mr. Meyers has been working on a local run between Valparaiso and Chicago in place of a man who was injured. At Hobart Saturday he was standing between the double tracks, waiting for his caboose to come along, the train just starting from the station, when he was struck on the back of the head by a stake which protruded from a stock car in a train on the other track going in an opposite direction. The blow threw Meyers against the cars of the local, cutting a bad gash on his left temple and removing the greater portion of the skin from the left cheek. His left eye was also injured, but no serious trouble is apprehended from that source. Gus Meyers has been in the train service of the Pittsburg two or three months only. He was formerly employed in the boiler shops of the Wabash as an apprentice. He is a brother of Herman J. Meyers, assistant foreman of the composing room of The Sentinel, and for a short time he was employed in that department as an apprentice.

BURGLARY OF M'CARTHY HOME

Engineer Jerry W. McCarthy, of the Pittsburg, and Engineer Michael McCarthy, of the Nickel Plate, went to Crestline Sunday upon receipt of news of the burglary of their mother's house in that city. The thieves got $30 in cash and some valuable jewelry. At the time of the robbery there were only Mrs. McCarthy and her daughter in the house and the burglars seemed to know this, for they made no effort to be quiet in their work, fearing no interference from the occupants.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

C. J. Mills, of the Pittsburg shops, is sick and off duty.

After nearly a month's absence, Nickel Plate Fireman Crapser has returned to work.

John Murphy has resigned his position in the machine department of the lectric works. He does not give his reasons.

J. L. Hanna, file clerk in the motive power offices of the Pittsburg, has returned from his vacation and is on duty again.

Supt. D. F. Crawford returned from the east this morning. He witnessed the race between the Columbia and the Shamrock Saturday.

Engineer J. E. Long had a cinder in one of his eyes, which caused him great pain and compelled him to seek the aid of Dr. R. Parks White.

W. G. Page, air brake inspector at the Pittsburg round house, has taken a ten days' leave of absence, which he will devote to pleasure and rest.

M. E. Ingalls, president of the Big Four, positively asserts that there is no truth in the report that he intends to remove from Cincinnati to New York.

The furnace at the big axle hammer at the Bass 'smith shops broke down last night and the hammer is closed down until the furnace can be repaired.

Machinist J. Michaels, who was sick, and E. P. Luley, who had a hand injured last week, resumed their positions at the Pittsburg shops this morning.

Christian Bahret has returned from the west, where he has been for the past two months. He will resume his position at the electric works in a few days.

John Dunn, who has been engaged for two or three months in setting up some machinery for the Bass company in Connecticut and Massachusetts, returned home Saturday night.

C. F. Baum and C. M. Tindall, Nickel Plate trainmen, have gone to Fort Seneca for a week's sojourn. The ounty fair is on this week at that place. Mrs. Baum accompanied her husband.

Nickel Plate Conductor F. M. Wehrling, who was on local freight between Stony Island and Knox in place of Conductor Charles, has returned to the city to resume through freight work.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kress have returned from Bluffton, where they attended the reunion of the Ohio and Indiana people last Thursday. Mr. Kress resumed his duties at the electric works this morning.

An immense balance wheel, built in two sections, left the Bass works this morning for Terre Haute, where it will become a part of the steam plant the Bass company is installing for the Highland Steel company.

The Baltimore and Ohio is equipping five of its locomotives with the fire box invented by Cornelius Vanderbilt, and proposes to give it a thorough test. The new box is not meeting with much favor from engineers, it is stated.

In handling the train which carried the people to Canton, Ohio, who left Washington to attend the funeral of the late President McKinley, the managers of the Pennsylvania railroad made unusual arrangements, and for the first time in railroad history a solid train was run through from Altoona to Canton, 218 miles.

W. G. Berdelman has taken a position as brakeman on the Nickel Plate.

Wabash Freight Agent Joseph Sullivan was the guest of friends in Wabash over Sunday.

J. W. Hilgeman, a construction man, has returned from Defiance, where he was engaged in installing electrical machinery a few days.

Nickel Plate Conductor E. J. Harper, who was at Cleveland a few days, reported for work this morning. Brakeman F. H. Wolf, who was sick, also reported for work on that road.

Bellevue Gazette: "Several Nickel Plate men would like to move their families here from Fort Wayne and Conneaut, but are prevented from doing so by the scarcity of houses.—Passenger Brakeman Harry Rouzer, who was granted a vacation in order to get married, is now settled in his new home, on Northwest street and reported for duty today."

The Electric company has resumed the shipment of electrical machinery, which was in a way hampered a few days by the improvements in progress at the works. A 200-light dynamo was sent to Summitville today to be placed in the pumping station of the Fort Wayne Gas company, and a motor was sent to the Laclede Electric Light company, of St. Louis.

J. H. Cody, of the Pittsburg planing mills, has a coin issued in 1837 and bearing the words of Ambassador Pinckney in reply to the inquiry, "What the Americans will pay to avoid a war with France." Mr. Cody has carried this coin for forty-six years, and, although he has been offered 200 times its value, he still retains it as a pocket piece.

The West Jersey and Seashore road has received two passenger engines of the largest typo in the world. Each carries twenty-eight tons on each pair of its driving wheels, which are seven feet high, and the engine carries 205 pounds of steam pressure. One of the peculiarities of these engines is that the driving power is applied to the rear driving wheel by a direct rod, thence by a parallel rod to the front driver.

The fellow clerks of Harry W. Fisher, of the Pittsburg freight house, tell a story concerning him that eclipses all previous absent-minded incidents of recent date. While en route home Saturday Mr. Fisher's mind was so occupied with thoughts of the young wife who was awaiting his coming, that he removed his valuable pipe from his mouth and tossed it into the St. Mary's river, thinking it was a cigar stub. He instantly saw the mistake and then made a vain effort to recover the smoker, which was a much prized affair because of its associations. The boys at the freight house are having a lot of fun over the incident at Harry's expense.

Charles Egg, of the electric works, caught his first fish yesterday and it was a "dandy." With George Platt, Mr. Egg went up the St. Joe and shortly after casting his hook something gave the line a vigorous pull. Mr. Egg forgot all about the reel, and getting hold of the line he pulled it in, hand over hand, until a ten-pound pickerel stuck his nose above the surface of the water. Then Mr. Egg called to his companion and gave a jerk at the line, which landed the fish on the bank. Then the fisherman took a safe distance and awaited the arrival of Mr. Platt, who reached the point just in time to prevent the pickerel from kicking himself back into the water. What Mr. Egg lacks in piscatorial experience he more than makes up in luck and will hereafter be considered a mascot whom all fishermen will want for a partner.

USUAL MONDAY GRIST BEFORE JUDGE LOUTTIT.

A Job-Lot of Jags Disposed of and Other Troubles Looked After —Other Matters.

There was considerable doing at police court this morning, and while Judge Louttit found himself pretty busy for a short time, none of the cases are likely to produce night sweats. John Martin and Jack Devany, late Saturday night or early Sunday morning succeeded to load up enough fire water to give them a beautiful sosh apiece. They got jealous of each other and Jack insisted that he had the most esthetic jag. Martin wouldn't stand for the reflection on his package and proceeded to mix it up with the esthetic number. Before conclusions were reached the officers got there and both disputants were locked up. This morning Jack said he thought his jag was of the ordinary kind and Martin said the one he had was not worth while making a fuss over. The judge thought differently and sent them over for eleven days apiece.

Edward Browning combined vagrancy with drunkenness and slept in the city bastile. He had not much of a story to tell, so the court gave him just an even sixty minutes to get out of town, never again to return.

William Arndt has had troubles breaking in on him frequently of late. Less than a week ago he was taken into camp and given a talking to, but was not placed under arrest. He said he would behave himself, but failed to do as he agreed and in consequence he was locked up. This morning to his plea of guilty the judge added a code by sending him over for the usual eleven days.

Several weeks ago William Miller was sent to the county jail on a charge of vagrancy. Miller appears to be partially demented, and at the time of his previous sentence was apparently in bad health. He was discharged a few days ago and was yesterday again locked up. He was this morning sent over for detention, and an effort will be made to send him to the county poor farm, where he evidently belongs.

Mike Kaylor made his periodical bow this morning, and he did it with his accustomed good grace. Mike was not in his usual eloquent mood this morning, however, and said that he would submit to anything the court wanted, but that he had within twelve hours experience a burning desire to reform. Stump speeches, he said, had been the bane of his life for years, and all he wanted was an opportunity to show the public how effectually he can let the stump speech alone. The judge said he would fine him $1 and costs, but would suspend sentence until another stump speech broke loose inside of him, and then he would have to be locked up. Mike thanked the court and when last seen was in a drug store negotiating for a job lot of corks to cork up the vials of his enthusiasm whenever he felt them working.

The only cast customer was Chester Wallace, a young man of not the best reputation, who lives in Bloomingdale and who has a habit of sleeping in barns and other places not intended for boudoirs for refined gentlemen. Last night he was found at the Artificial Ice company's barn and an affidavit for trespass was filed against him. This morning he was released, his father paying his fine, which was $5 and costs.

The cases of George and John Renssler, two boys accused of being partners of Percy Bigelow and Alando Schmuck in their petty pilferings, were continued until tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

Nightwatchman Lachlan has a pocketbook in his possession containing a small amount of money, which he found. The owner can have it by identifying the property.

John English, a St. Joe township farmer, had a horse taken from the corner of Calhoun and Lewis streets on Saturday night. The horse was swiped by a boy, who tried to sell it for $2. The owner, however, recovered his animal after a lively chase for it, the boy getting away.

A farmer named Slanacher, from Louisville, Ohio, came to town on Saturday to sell a farm. He did not succeed in making an immediate sale, but managed to buy a number of drinks of ancient vintage, which went to his head. He circulated himself and his money rather freely, and finally wound up minus his grip and overcoat. He does not think that he was touched for his traps, but would like somebody to tell him where he left them. He appeared good natured when he reported his loss and agreed that city life is a great thing.

Her Ladyship Corsets.

Indorsed by Leading Modistes. Praised By Every Wearer.

Support to the Body. Perfect Beauty in Every Curve.

ABSOLUTELY FREE TO THE LADIES!

The Greatest Invention of the Twentieth Century "Her Ladyship" Corsets.

Cannot break over the hips. This corset is made of superior quality Coutil, stripped with Coutil, handsomely silk flossed and trimmed with wide lace and silk ribbon; boned throughout with finely tempered capped-end steels, with ten (10) extra quality flexible side steels, five (5) on each side, making this corset absolutely unbreakable over the hips and at the same time elastic to every motion of the body.

Commencing .... Wednesday Oct. 2nd

at 10 o'clock a. m., we will give absolutely free to the ladies of Fort Wayne 10 dozen pairs of "Her Ladyship" Corsets, one pair of these celebrated corsets in any size, 18 to 30, in any color, drab, white or black.

"Regular price everywhere in America one dollar."

To every lady who will bring to our corset department one purchaser for one of these celebrated corsets "Her Ladyship" for $1.00 we will in turn present her FREE OF CHARGE a pair of these corsets, the same as purchased by the customer at the corset counter, in any size or color she may desire.

All we ask of you is to bring us one (1) customer and come with her and see that she buys one of these corsets, and we will give you one pair of "HER LADYSHIP" Corsets absolutely FREE. Every pair guaranteed to give satisfaction.

This grand offer is made to popularize our corset department and "Her Ladyship" Corsets, for which we are sole agents in Fort Wayne.

This opportunity will be withdrawn Saturday, October 5th, providing the 10 dozen pairs of corsets are not gone before.

STRIKE ON CHICAGO L ROAD.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—After an all-night's session the operating employes of the South Side Elevated railroad (the alley L) struck at 5 o'clock this morning because of the refusal of the company to grant an increase of 25 cents per man for a ten hour day. The decision to strike came after a committee had failed to secure any satisfactory response to an ultimatum sent to President Leslie Carter's home at 3 o'clock this morning. Over 200 men are out. The road, however, is not tied up for as soon as the notice had been given to strike the company pressed into service all the extra men they could get hold of and the trains are now running with a good deal of regularity. The strike is the first in the history of Chicago's elevated railroads.

WIPED OUT IN FAR OFF SAMAR

HARRY WOOD HAS BEEN IN THE FIGHTING NINTH.

FRIENDS ARE VERY ANXIOUS

LAST LETTER TOLD OF ORDER TO GO TO SAMAR.

One Fort Wayne boy—Harry M. Wood—is a member of the ill-fated Company C, and two other young men from this city are with the Ninth regiment—W. B. Carson in Company G and Jesse M. Brinningsthull in Company I.

Private Wood is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood, of 47 Grace avenue, and the members of the family are, of course, deeply apprehensive concerning his welfare. Mr. Wood called at The Sentinel office this morning to learn if the Associated Press telegrams had brought any new information concerning the terrible affair, and the parents await news with eager solicitation in the hope that their son was one of the fortunate few who escaped death.

Young Wood served with Captain Meyer's Company G, of the One-hundred-and-fifty-seventh regiment during the Spanish-American war, and in July, 1899, enlisted in the regular army at the recruiting office in this city. He was sent to the Presidio, near San Francisco, and after some weeks was assigned to Company C, of the Ninth regiment, going to the Philippines with that command.

When the trouble in China arose last year the Ninth regiment was among the first American commands ordered there, and Harry Wood went with it through the boxer outbreak in China. It was then ordered back to Manila. In the last letter received by his parents, dated at Manila, July 19, Private Wood states that there was a rumor that his company was to be ordered to Samar, where the butchery occurred Saturday morning. The letter was written on the second anniversary of his enlistment, and the young man spoke hopefully of the fact that in another year his term of enlistment would expire, and he would be homeward bound.

Previous to his army service Mr. Wood was employed with his father at the Coombs wholesale hardware house. He has a wide acquaintance among the young people of Fort Wayne, and is universally popular. Many outside the immediate family will trust that he was of the number who escaped from Samar.

EVANS IS HEARD

"FIGHTING BOB" BEFORE THE SCHLEY COURT.

ARRANGED WITH CUBANS, BUT DID NOT TELL SCHLEY.

CAPTAIN LEMLY AND BOOK BARRED OUT.

Washington, Sept. 30.—There was unusual interest in the proceedings of the Schley court of inquiry this afternoon from the fact that Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, who commanded the battleship Iowa in the Santiago campaign, was a witness.

During the examination of Admiral Evans the judge advocate asked the witness concerning a statement by a lieutenant of the Spanish navy, printed by the navy department, to the effect that at dark the American ships withdrew to the southwest, disappearing. The introduction of this book was objected to and Admiral Dewey said:

"Witness has already told what distance was maintained by the fleet. We do not care for that kind of information. Admiral Evans was there and can answer for himself. We want facts, not newspaper articles."

Admiral Evans said that before leaving Key West on May 20 to join the flying squadron at Cienfuegos, Captain Chadwick had communicated to him the secret code arranged by Captain McCalla. He had not, however, reported this code to Admiral Schley upon his arrival, supposing that the admiral knew about the code.

Commander Southerland, while on the stand to correct any errors in his testimony of Saturday, he was asked whether if the fleet of Cervera had been in the harbor at Cienfuegos it could have been seen by the vessels blockading that port. He thought, unless the Spanish vessels had anchored in the lower harbor, a most unlikely proceeding.

COMMANDER MILLER.

The first new witness of the day was Commander James M. Miller, who was in command of the collier Merrimac while that vessel was a part of Admiral Schley's flying squadron.

Commander Miller said that he had assumed command of the Merrimac on April 11 at Norfolk. He had taken on board at Lambert's Point soon afterward about 5,000 tons of coal. His vessel had, he said, been capable at first of making between nine and ten knots, but afterward he had trouble with his pressin machinery, so that by May 23 and 24 he would have hesitated in trying to secure a speed of more than seven or eight knots. He read from the collier's log to show that the Iowa, the Massachusetts and the Castine had been coaled on the 23d and 24th.

No record was found of the coaling of any vessel on the 25th or the 26th, the time consumed in proceeding from Cienfuegos to Santiago.

"The sea," he said, "on the 25th was nasty, quite nasty. The Merrimac, being a heavy vessel, its speed was affected, but if I had a smaller vessel I should have felt it very much."

A BIT TOUCHY.

"I feel a little bit touchy about the Merrimac," he said. Admiral Dewey assured him that he had displayed no temper.

Captain Jewell said that he had first fallen in with the flying squadron under command of Commodore Schley on the evening of May 26. Captain Lemley quoted from Admiral Schley's letter to the senate committee on naval affairs, dated Feb. 18, 1899, saying, "After having been informed by the Scourt commanded by such officers as Sisghee, Jewell and Wise that, although they had been off Santiago for a week they had seen nothing of Cervera's fleet since it left Curacao," and asked whether he had given to Admiral Schley this information or any other information concerning the Spanish fleet.

Captain Jewell said that when he had first seen Admiral Schley's statement as to the information he might have given concerning Cervera's fleet he had written a letter to the department denying that he had done so. Objection was made to this line of testimony and it was not persisted in.

The witness said in reply to a question from Mr. Raynor that he had no knowledge that Captain Sigsbee, speaking for himself, and for Captains Jewel and Wise, stated to Commodore Schley on the 20th at Santiago that neither he (the witness) nor Wise or himself (Sigsbee) had seen anything or knew anything of the movements or whereabouts of the Spanish fleet. Nor did he know whether Captain Sigsbee wrote a letter to Commodore Schley stating that that was a fact.

THE COAL SUPPLY.

Captain Jewell was then examined as to his coal supply at the time. He said that he thought he could have steamed 1,200 or 1,300 miles. Mr.

INJURIES MAY PROVE FATAL

RUSSEL FLAGLE FALLS FROM HICKORY TREE.

Russel Flagle, 13 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Flagle, of 57 East Third street, fell from a tree Saturday afternoon and sustained injuries that may prove fatal. The boy has been unconscious most of the time and his condition is such that the attending physician holds out little hope.

In company with a number of boys about his own age young Flagle went out after hickory nuts along the Goshen road Saturday afternoon. The lads found a tree near the Shobe residence, a few miles west of the city, and young Flagle ascended it for the purpose of shaking down nuts. When about twenty feet from the ground he lost his hold and in falling struck several branches, alighting on the ground on his side.

The unconscious boy was taken to the Shobe residence where Dr. Stults was summoned. Toward evening the lad had rallied somewhat and he was brought to his home in the city. An examination failed to show any broken bones, but the internal injuries are of a very grave nature.

M'KINLEY WILL PROBATED.

Canton, O., Sept. 30.—The will of William McKinley was admitted to probate today. Judge William R. Day and Secretary George B. Cortelyou were appointed administrators. They gave bond of $100,000 jointly for the faithful performance of their duties. Appraisers are to meet this afternoon to make a schedule and to assess the values of the property.

JUBILEE DAY OBSERVED.

The Knights of Columbus observed the jubilee proclamation of Pope Leo yesterday afternoon by attending prayers at four Catholic churches, the Cathedral, St. Mary's, St. Peter's and St. Patrick's. The knights paraded from their hall in the Lau building, visiting the churches in the order mentioned, and the procession was joined by a large number of Catholics en route.

AGAIN AFTER TAYLOR.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—Arthur Goebel, of Kentucky, and his attorneys who, on Saturday applied to Governor Durbin for the return of W. S. Taylor and Charles Finley, called at the governor's office again this forenoon, but were requested by the governor to return this afternoon. The governor's secretary said it was probable that no formal answer would be made by the governor today.

LOST HIS WAD.

Josiah King, of 28 Wilt street, lost $80 in bills Saturday, and so far has received no trace of the missing money. Mr. King had an appointment with a friend to whom the money was to be loaned, and was making some purchases at the Fruit house when the loss was discovered.

FRIENDS OF M'KINLEYS DO NOT BELIEVE IN

STORY THAT GUARD HAD BEEN ATTACKED.

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Friends of the family of the late President McKinley emphatically discredit belief in the idea that the shot reported fired by Guard Deprend at West Lawn cemetery last night was on account of any attempt to desecrate the tomb of the late president. They do not attempt to explain the strange story of the guard's or account for the firing of the shot which the cemetery officials and other residents near by say they heard, and they do not believe that two men would undertake to make an attack on the vault with seventy soldiers on guard or near at hand.

It is believed that the military authorities will make a thorough investigation of the stroies told by the soldiers on guard Sunday night. There are rumors that the shot was fired on account of an accidental fall and also that it was the result of personal differences. The officers in charge early instructed soldiers not to talk of the affair.

The statements of the guard made Sunday night could not be obtained until the officers had secured their reports from them, and while the officers declined to be quoted, they were made with their knowledge and in their presence.

None of the officers would express an opinion as to what the object of the intruders may have been and they also instructed the men not to discuss the occurrence with outsiders.

The few persons who succeeded in gaining admission to the cemetery were directed to the officers for all information and guards were told not to talk of the incident among themselves while outsiders were present. This is said to be in accordance with military regulations.

THE STORY AS TOLD.

It was nearly 8 o'clock when Guard De Prend saw a prowler in the rear of the vault behind a tree and in a shadow. Upon being challenged by the soldier the man remained motionless behind a tree. He was then forty feet from the soldier.

De Prend advanced, made a second challenge and brought his gun ready to fire. The man in the meantime had dodged away to a second tree about ten feet distant from the first. The soldier renewed his challenge and fired, but as he did so a hard blow was given the gun and his aim missed. A second man had stealthily come up to the soldier and dealt the blow. At the same time man No. 2 struck the soldier with a heavy instrument on the head and attempted to stab him. A gash, "L"-shaped and about two inches long each way, was cut through the clothing, including the overcoat, and a small scratch was made on De Prend's body.

The blow was so hard that De Prend was knocked down a small hill and was unable to gain his feet before the men disappeared in the darkness.

Lieutenant Ashbridge, who was officer of the day, as soon as he heard the challenge and shot, rushed to the assistance of the guard. He was followed by other soldiers.

The sentinel attacked, however, was in the rear of the vault on a hill and before the relief force could climb the hill the men had escaped.

NO TRACE OF PROWLERS.

A hunt was made for the prowlers, but no trace could be found of them. The vault is but a short distance from the west edge of the cemetery and the men evidently escaped from there into the fields and woods near by.

The man who dodged about the trees, De Prend says, carried a shining weapon in one hand and a package done up in white in the other.

He says he could recognize the man if ever seen again. The man who attacked him was masked.

That Captain Biddle believes an attempt was made to blow the vault to pieces is shown by the fact that he put on an extra guard around the vault and in various portions of the cemetery the balance of the night. All the men of the company, seventy-five in number, were ordered to be ready to turn out on the first alarm sounded.

SENTINEL WAS DECEIVED.

Shortly after noon today Captain Biddle, commanding the guard at West Lawn cemetery, thanked the reporters for the fair and correct manner in which they had described the incidents at West Lawn cemetery last night. He said after a careful investigation today:

"I think the sentinel deceived himself in the occurrence. I do not think if probable that an attack such as he stated actually occurred. When daylight came we could find no evidence of a struggle."

INSTALL NEW 'PHONES.

The Fort Wayne Gas company this morning received from the Home Telephone company a large consignment of new telephone instrumsnts to be installed along the gas company's telephone system. This system is an extensive affair, covering the gas field and reaching every pumping station. It is about eighty miles in length.

CHANGE IN MAIL DELIVERY

TWO IN FORENOON, TWO IN AFTERNOON NOW.

Expected to Better Business Service—New Carrier Goes On—Rural Route Starts.

Beginning tomorrow a slight change will be made in the delivery of mails from the Fort Wayne postoffice which it is expected will be welcomed in the business district, though the number of daily deliveries is not increased; this remains at four.

Formerly the deliveries in the business district have been made at 7:15 a. m., 1 p. m., 2 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. Hereafter the deliveries will be made two in the forenoon and two in the afternoon—at 7:15 a. m., 11 a. m., 1:30 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. The residence deliveries, which have been made at 715 a. m. and 2 p. m., will now be made at 7:15 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. One additional carrier is added to the force tomorrow, making the total twenty-two. Robert K. Miller is the new appointee.

RURAL ROUTE STARTS.

The first delivery of mail upon the new rural free delivery route, No. 8, northward over the Auburn and Coldwater roads, reaching Academie, will be made Tuesday morning. Edwin B. Bowser is the carrier.

The civil service examination for positions as clerk and carrier in the Fort Wayne postoffice will be held Wednesday, Nov. 20. Applications must be on file by October 23, and blanks for this purpose may be secured from W. J. Hess, secretary of the board, at the government building.

THE BRITISH LOST HEAVILY

Botha at the Head of Large Force Gives a Good Argument on the Border of Zululand.

Durban, Natal, Sept. 30.—A force of fifteen hundred Boers, commanded by General Botha, made an attack, which lasted all day long, September 26, at Portitala, on the border of Zululand. The burghers were finally repulsed, but at a heavy cost to the garrison, whose losses were an officer and eleven men killed, and five officers and thirty-eight men wounded. In addition, sixty-three are missing, of which number many are believed to have been killed or wounded. The Boer commandant, Opperman, and nineteen burghers are known to have been killed.

KILLED IN COLLISION.

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 30.—Three men were killed and two seriously injured in a collision of freight trains head-on on the Berkshire division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at Long Hill today. The dead are Engineer E. Burns and Fireman Gustafson, of the northbound train, and Brakeman Nally, of the southbound train. Engineer Holt and Fireman Pitcher, of the southbound train, are injured. Both engines and many cars were piled up, blocking all traffic.

Will Young spent Sunday in Bluffton, the guest of Clem Starr.

OFFICERS SLAIN

DID NOT ESCAPE DEATH TRAP IN ISLAND OF SAMAR.

SURPRISED BY LARGE PARTY OF BOLOMEN.

COMPANY C. OF THE NINTH

ALMOST ANNIHILATED, GAVE A GOOD ACCOUNT.

Washington, Sept. 30.—In addition to the enlisted men, three commissioned officers of company C, Ninth infantry, are supposed now to have been killed in the action in Samar, Philippine Islands, last Saturday. The officers are:

A question having arisen as to the accuracy of the cablegram received at the war department yesterday from General Chaffee, the cable company was directed to repeat it. The repetition disclosed some inaccuracies that materially change the message.

THE CORRECTED DISPATCH.

As corrected, the dispatch reads:

"Manila, Sept. 29.—Adjutant General, Washington: Hughes reports following from Bassey, Southern Samar:

"Twenty-four men, company C, Ninth regiment, United States infantry, eleven wounded, have just arrived from Balangiga; remainder of company killed.

"Chaffee."

As corrected, the dispatch shows that company C, of the Ninth regiment, suffered the disaster. No company was mentioned in the dispatch made public yesterday. The serious discrepancy between the original and the corrected dispatches, however, is that the latter indicates that the commissioned officers of the company are missing and perhaps killed, while the former indicated that they escaped.

The father of Captain Connell resides in New York city. He telegraphed to the war department today that he is in receipt of a cablegram from the quartermaster of the Ninth regiment, saying that his son had been killed in action. He asks for confirmation of the dispatch from the war department, but the officials here are unable at this time to confirm the information.

ARRIVED FROM THE FIGHT.

Manila, Sept. 30.—General Hughes, from the Island of Samar, reports the arrival of Sergeant Markley and one private at Tannan, from the fight at Balangiga, where over forty men of company C, Ninth infantry, were killed by insurgents, who attacked the troops while at breakfast Saturday last. The men who have reached Tannan say the officers of the company, who were at first reported to have escaped, were killed with the majority of the company. The troops were attacked, while unprepared, by 400 boloman, of whom the Americans killed about 140.

A MURDER SOCIETY.

A new branch of the Katipunan has been discovered at Tarlac, capital of the province of that name. The object of the society is the slaughter of the whites.

Marcenlon Marivule, president of Banoong, is the chief of the new branch, which includes members of the native constabulary, who were recently armed. One policeman admits that he was taxed a dollar and was ordered to make bolos. A regular collection has been made by the organization from the natives either by persuasion or threats, and an uprising had been planned for an early date.

The conditions in Tayabas and Bantagas are not reassuring. The worst form of guerilla warfare prevails there. The insurgent forces are distributed, under cover, along every road, and there await, for the Americans in ambush.

The insurgent leader, Caballos, who formerly belonged to General Cailles' command, but who refused to surrender with Cailles, is retreating to the mountains. The main forces of the insurgents are scattered in bands over the province, where they dig up rifles when there is an opportunity to use them.

A SPECIAL VENIRE.

The jury commissioners and the county clerk met this morning pursuant to instructions from the court and drew a venire of eighty jurymen to serve in the Dunn case, in addition to the regular panel. The names drawn were not made public and the court entered an order requiring the clerk to keep the list secreted from public gaze until within a few days of the trial, when the services would be made. The object is to prevent the talesmen drawn from knowing of it themselves and thus giving them the opportunity to disqualify themselves by publicly discussing the case and expressing themselves as to the guilt or innocence of the accused man.

ARMY OFFICER ANSWERING TO CHARGES.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The senate sub-committee of the committee on military affairs, consisting of Senators Hawley, chairman; Proctor, Burrows, Cockrell and Harris, at 11 o'clock today began the investigation of the charge against Lieutenant Commander H. O. S. Heistand, of the army, in connection with the alleged Manila hemp combination. The charges were preferred by Major E. L. Hawkes, formerly a volunteer officer, and were deemed of sufficient seriousness to warrant an investigation by the senate.

The committee decided that the proceedings should be public, that course being regarded as best for all concerned.

In brief, the charges against Colonel Heistand are that he, in connection with other officers in the army and some officials in the civil departments of the government, attempted to form a combination to control the output of hemp from the Philippines, using their official positions and influence to further their ends. Major Hawkes preferred the charges to the secretary of war and also to the senate committee on military affairs They were denied by those against whom the allegations were made. After some consideration the senate, by resolution, authorized the investigation which began today.

SOLDIERS' HOME BURNED.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 30.— The confederate soldiers' home, just east of this city, was destroyed by fire today. There were no lives lost, but several narrow escapes. About seventy veterans were inmates of the building, some of them being invalids, who were rescued with difficulty. The loss is estimated at $25,000, covered by $22,000 insurance. The home was opened for the ex-confederate veterans of the state June 30, and was built by popular subscription.

LOCAL LINES.

Mrs. R. S. Robertson and daughter, Miss Frances Haberly, are visiting in Toledo.

Mrs. A. W. Line went to North Manchester this morning to meet her brother, Charles Eicholtz, of Tacoma, Wash., who is coming here on a visit.

The annual mission festival of Redeemer English Lutheran church was held yesterday at Swinney park and the attendance was unusually large. Rev. C. F. W. Meyer preached the morning sermon and Rev. Luehr and Rev. Arendt officiated in the afternoon. The ladies of the church served luncheon at noon. The collection taken up for synod mission work was quite large.

The board of trustees of the Feeble Minded Institute is in session this afternoon receiving bids for the construction of a cottage for feeble minded women of child-bearing age.

The young men's Bible class of the First Baptist church will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening at the home of Robert Martz, 12 West Jefferson street. Business of importance will be up for consideration and a full attendance is desired.

HARRY BAYLISS ENDS LIFE WITH CHLORAL.

DIED AT HIS MOTHER'S GRAVE

Leaning against the tombstone which marked the last resting place of his mother in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at New Haven, the lifeless body of Harry Bayliss was found Sunday afternoon by two ladies who were walking through the cemetery. Despondent from ill-health, Bayliss had ended his life by drinking a deadly drug. He was about 50 years of age.

Bayliss was quite well known in Fort Wayne and was formerly employed as a porter at the Home billiard hall. Recently he went to Muskegon, Mich., to work, and it is evident that he came from Muskegon Saturday, going directly to New Haven, as none of his relatives in this city knew of his presence. Several persons at New Haven saw him upon his arrival at noon, and he started in the direction of the cemetery. Later the sexton, Robert Bell, noticed Bayliss sitting upon the ground near his mother's grave, but paid no further attention to him.

Sunday afternoon as Mrs. William Snyder and Mrs. T. J. Eller, of New Haven, were walking in the cemetery, two little girls, Minnie and Grace Miller, called their attention to a man leaning against Mrs. Hammond's tombstone. Approaching him the ladies made the horrifying discovery that the man was dead. His overcoat and hat were hanging upon the tombstone, his under coat lying upon the ground near him. Beside the man was an empty bottle, and on the ground between his outstretched legs was a loaded revolver.

The cemetery authorities were at once notified and Deputy Coroner Schrader was called upon the case. He found the body not yet cold, but turning blue, indicating that death had been due to chloral poisoning. The empty flask had evidently contained whisky with the drug mixed with it. There was an odor of liquor and a white sediment in the bottom of the bottle, which was turned over to Dr. MacBeth for examination. In the pockets of the dead man's clothing Dr. Schrader found some silver coin, a receipt for $35 for medical services from a Muskegon physician and an express money order receipt for $35 which had been sent to the dead man's sister, Mrs. Carrie Coats, of Utica, N. Y., last Thursday.

"To whom may find me: Please send word to Thomas Hammond, 299 Hoagland avenue, or Home billiard hall, Fort Wayne or to J. J. Bayliss, care Morton hotel, Grand Rapids."

On the back of the envelope was also penciled:

HALF-BROTHERS HERE.

Bayliss was a halfbrother of Robert Hammond, former owner of the Home billiard hall, and Thomas Hammond is another half-brother. J. J. Bayliss, a full brother, conducts a cigar store in Grand Rapids. The dead man had long been in poor health, though nothing in his frequent letters to relatives ever intimated any intention of suicide. He had been lame from childhood, and had lost the sight of one eye, and these afflictions caused him much suffering. But a few days ago Robert Hammond received a letter from the dead man's brother at Grand Rapids, stating that Harry had spent the previous Sunday with him and seemed in good spirits.

The remains were placed in charge of Undertaker N. W. Bloom, who has prepared them for burial.

Miss Fairy Tilbury and Miss Flora Smick gave a 'bus party Saturday evening to the home of Miss Grace Whetzell, at Huntertown. Luncheon was served at midnight and the occasion was a most enjoyable one.

"It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia Filbridge, West Cornwell, Conn.

HAS GONE TO REST

C. FREDERICK MYERS DIED SUNDAY MORNING.

HE WAS A PIONEER CITIZEN

FOR MANY YEARS A STREET SPRINKLING CONTRACTOR.

Charles Frederick Myers, one of the best known and most highly esteemed of Fort Wayne's older residents, died Sunday morning at his home, 66 Douglas avenue, after an illness of many months. Mr. Myers was 73 years of age, and for more than sixty years had been a resident of Allen county. During the period of many years he was a street sprinkling contractor, and enjoyed the widest acquaintance and the esteem of all who knew him.

Early in April last Mr. Myers was stricken with Bright's disease of an aggravated type, and since that time he had been steadily failing. In August there was some improvement and the patient went to Rome City to spend some time at the cottage of his daughter, Mrs. J. C. Peters, and family. The gain was but temporary, and returning he slowly declined to the end. For a week he had been barely able to recognize the members of his family, and Saturday evening relapsed into the final unconsciousness that preceded the peaceful end of his long, active and upright life.

CAME AT EARLY DAY.

Mr. Myers was indeed one of the pioneer citizens of Fort Wayne. He was born at Windheim, Germany, Many 14, 1828, and when 9 years of age emigrated with his parents to America. After a stormy voyage of nine weeks the party landed in New York, spent two months there and then took up the toilsome journey to Indiana—then in a large part a wilderness.

Reaching Maumee City, Ohio, they boarded flatboats and slowly poled their way up the Maumee river, landing along the way to prepare their meals and to sleep. The year 1838 marked the arrival of the family in Fort Wayne, and their first residence here was a little log cabin standing on the banks of Spy Run, north of the present waterworks pumping station. There was no door upon the cabin and a blanket hung across the aperture that furnished a way of ingress and egress. The glow from the old fireplace furnished the only artificial illumination until by and by a flood in the creek washed down a large cake of beeswax, and from this their first supply of candles was made. Through the gloomy nights wolves, attracted by the odor of food, would approach the cabin, push aside the blanket which covered the door and glare hungrily in until the father arose to drive them away. Mr. Myers' father died thirty-nine years ago; his mother three years later.

A PIONEER'S LIFE.

Charles Frederick Myers grew to sturdy manhood among the scenes and in full participation in the hardships of pioneer days. He was employed by Hon. Hugh McCulloch, afterwards secretary of the treasury, and later worked as a farm hand for Hon. E. P. Randall, afterwards mayor of the city for many years.

Mr. Myers' marriage occurred in 1851, and his bride was Miss Sophia Hitzman, who survives him. The ceremony was performed in the old St. Paul's Lutheran church by Rev. Kuehn, a well known preacher of pioneer days. Through nearly half a century of wedded life this devoted couple lived and loved in a home life that was ideal, and up until a week before his death Mr. Myers had been planning to celebrate the golden anniversary of their wedding November 21 next.

Two years after their marriage Mr. Myers bought a tract of timber land in Adams township, cleared a small space in the woods and built a home of logs. The first night they occupied it a fearful storm arose, trees were falling all about them and Mr. and Mrs. Myers sat up all night, momentarily expecting a falling tree would crash through the roof upon them. Upon this farm they resided eight years, but Mr. Myers was attacked with rheumatism, and the family finally returned to Fort Wayne and purchased the property which has since been their home. Mr. Myers engaged in the purchase of horses for the eastern market, and later began the street sprinkling business which he continued until the beginning of his fatal illness.

THE FAMILY.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers were the parents of six children. Christian died about twelve years ago and Sophia in infancy. Those who survive are Mrs. John C. Peters, Fred H., the liveryman Dr. W. F., the veterinary surgeon, and Henry C., who conducts the old sprinkling business founded by his father.

Mr. Myers was one of a family of eleven children, of whom only one now survives. He lives in Cincinnati and is in poor health. A sister, Mrs. Stier, died last year on Lafayette street. Mr. Myers was one of the founders of Emanuel Lutheran church, a man of the loftiest character and strictest integrity, cheerful and hopeful in disposition, and was universally respected and esteemed.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 from the residence and at 2 oclock from Emanuel Lutheran church. Rev. Philip Wambsganss will officiate, and the interment will be at Lindenwood. The pall-bearers will be four grandsons of the deceased—Fred, Will, Otto and Arthur Peters, and two nephews—Herman W. Hobrock and Edward Myers.

WYBOURN.

Funeral services will be held from the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock; interment at Lindenwood.

RAUNER.

Miss May Rauner, sixteen years of age, died Sunday afternoon at St. Joseph's hospital from appendicitis. She was the daughter of Isidore Rauner, of 481 Lafayette street, and had submitted to a surgical operation Friday as the only hope of saving her life.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 8:30 from the residence and at 9 o'clock from St. Patrick's church. The interment will be at Hesse Cassel.

GREEN.

Malcolm A. Green died at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of his mother, Mrs. M. F. Green, 139 West Main street, after an extended illness. Mr. Green was thirty-nine years of age.

He was born at LaRue, Ohio, but Fort Wayne has been his home since childhood. Previous to his illness he was employed as a trimmer at the City Carriage works. He was prominent in the Knights of Pythias, and had many friends. Mr. Green was united in marriage some years ago to Miss Flora Stafford, of Auburn, who, with one child, survives him. Miss Gertrude Green is a sister, and Seth Green a brother of the deceased.

Funeral services will be held from the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

ABOUT THE CITY HALL.

For the first time in a number of months the pay day of all the city departments falls on the same day of the month. Tomorrow the quarterly salaries of the city officials will be paid, the fire and police pay roll, amounting to $6,521, will be disbursed, and the street and park employes will receive their bi-weekly stipends. It is very rarely that all of these divergent pay days fall on th same day.

Within a day or two the board of works expects to receive a consignment of squirrels, secured by The Sentinel, a dozen pairs in all, and will place them in Swinney park. Houses, nestling in the forks of trees and other convenient places, have been provided for the expected little strangers, and every comfort, up to providing them food for the winter, has been arranged for. One thing has, however, been overlooked, and that is the passage of an ordinance that will insure their protection from boys with sling-shots and men with dogs. The small boy with the sling-shot and air-gun can probably be more easily taken care of than the big man with the dog.

The committee on contracts and franchises, upon the call of Chairman Hosey, will meet tomorrow evening to consider the new franchise of the Southwestern Traction company giving them a right of way on Harrison street. The board of works has agreed to the franchise and it will now be passed over to the committee and the council.

Degree of Honor, No. 2, will give an entertainment tomorrow evening at the hall, 107 Calhoun street. In addition to an interesting stage program, there will be a doll contest and also a contest as to the most popular foot ball player in the city. No. 2 always takes good care of those who attend the entertainments and a special effort in that direction will be made tomorrow evening.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to thank the ladies of the north side for the social they gave for the benefit of myself. I also received $96.00.

The People's Store

Grand Fall Opening

Tuesday, Oct., 1st, DAY AND EVENING.

Store Open in the Evening, But No Goods Sold.

Incidentally with our Fall Millinery opening, we beg leave to announce the GENERAL OPENING for fall and winter of every department in this big store. The store will be open in the evening to enable you to come in and look around to your heart's content, and every effort will be put forth to make your visit a pleasant one. Every department is perfect in its completeness. In fact, the assortment of seasonable merchandise will be found not only large, but immense, and will far surpass anything to be seen in the state. We would call your special attention to the magnificent displays in the following departments:

Cloaks, Suits, Skirts.

The new fall and winter fashions on display here are the best to be seen anywhere. We are particularly anxious to have you visit our big Cloak and Suit Department on the second floor and inspect the new styles. Our present stock is the largest and best we have ever shown: all the late fashions are fully represented, and the prices, as always, are invariably the lowest.

New 27-in. Box Coats, half fitting backs, box fronts. These Coats are made of extra quality Kersey cloth, well tailored and lined with satin. All colors, as Tan, Oxford, Black, Red, Blue, from $5 to $20.

New Automobile Coats, half fitting backs, storm or coat collars, elegantly tailored and lined with guaranteed satin, from $15 to $30.

New Winter Capes in all lengths, of Kersey cloth, Boucle, Persian, plain or crushed Plush. Prices from $1.50 to $30.

New Fur Capes and Jackets of the latest cut, at prices exceedingly moderate for such high-grade value—$15 to $50.

In Dress Skirts we have everything of the newest styles, either in silk or cloth. A showing that is simply immense, and whether the price be large or small, our values will be found conspicuously big. Skirts from $1.50 to $25 each.

We are showing the very best line of Black Tailor-made Suits in Fort Wayne, from $10 up.

This handsome picture, in colors, of Queen Louise given free with each pair purchased.

SHOE DEPARTMENT.

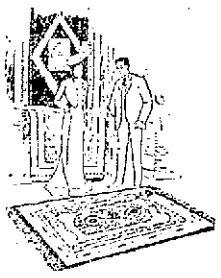
Queen Quality
THE FAMOUS SHOE FOR WOMEN

Fall Styles Now In.

This is the beginning of our second season in selling "Queen Quality" Shoes, and from the very start the department jumped into popular favor. We have the assurance of hundreds of women that in giving this famous one-price shoe a place in our store we have done them a great service. Of course, we mean those that heretofore have paid $4, $5 and $6 for shoes. They now know that "Queen Quality" is the equal of any of these shoes. We invite all ladies to this opening of fall styles of "Queen Quality." We want you to see and know the shoe that is indeed QUEEN OF ALL. ALL AT ONE PRICE—SHOES, $3, OXFORDS $2.50.



Rugs, Linoleums, Oilcloths.

The success of this new department is fully established and will undoubtedly be increased during the coming season as a result of our unusual price concessions. Our assortment of new Rugs, in all sizes, is very complete, and we are now prepared to show the handsomest collection ever exhibited in Fort Wayne. We ask an inspection by immediate and prospective buyers. LARGE RUGS ARE THE COMING THING.

LINOLEUMS AND OILCLOTHS—Of the very newest designs and most durable quality, at prices not to be duplicated anywhere.

Curtains and Draperies.

We could write a page about this magnificent department, and every word the truth. But newspaper space is precious. The most we can do now is to invite you to take a look through this department, and when your needs develop and your inclination to supply them grows—come to us. Everything here in Nottingham, Irish Point, Brussels Net, Tambour, Renaissance, Lace Curtains, Tapestry and Rope Portiers, Upholstery material, Curtain materials by the yard, Door Panels, etc., etc., and this is the place at which to buy them if you want to save money.

China and Glassware.

The business in this department grows and grows. Selling the best wares at lowest prices and always displaying big assortments has made this a very popular place to buy China and Glassware. We are displaying now a handsome collection of Imported Decorated Ware, also plain white Haviland and domestic Ware, Tumblers, Water Sets, Punch Bowl Sets, Salt and Peppers, Cream and Sugar Sets, Toilet Sets, Jardinieres, etc., at prices far below those at exclusive stores. Your inspection of this department opening night is solicited.

Dress Goods, Silks.

THE DRESS GOODS OPENING—No other heading would or could express our meaning half as plainly. It is an opening in every sense of the word, and such an opening as this department never before had. With the product of two continents to pick from, we have selected for your approval what we believe to be the grandest collection of gown fabrics ever shown in this locality. Prices—we have ALL prices, and every desirable weave manufactured. An inspection of this department would be appreciated by us and doubtless prove profitable to you.

Store Open Tuesday Evening, But No Goods Sold.

DIED AT PLYMOUTH.

Amasa Johnson, father of Mrs. C. F. Baker, of this city, died at his home in Plymouth Friday afternoon after an extended illness. Mr. Johnson had been a resident of that section for many years, and was widely known. Mr. and Mrs. Baker had been at his bedside a week when the end came. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon.

GROPING IN THE DARK

Read about some far away cure.
It seems like their case.
Don't know—cannot verify it.
How different with Dr. A. W. Chase's

Mrs. E. Shadle, of No. 34 Baker St., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I think Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Meyer Bros. & Co.'s drug store, No. 14 Calhoun St., are an excellent nerve tonic. I found them capable of making my nerves strong and of giving me good, sound natural sleep—two things I lacked, consequently I am pleased with the medicine."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

Black Hair

For 50 years Ayer's Hair Vigor has been restoring color to gray hair. It never fails to do this work, either. Besides this, it keeps the scalp clean and healthy, stops falling of the hair, and makes the hair grow thick and long. It's a regular hair-food.

"Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps my scalp clean and healthy. It stopped the falling of my hair, also, and made it grow nicely. I receive many compliments for my beautiful head of hair."

The closer the contests the better the sport. But that race Saturday was just a bit too close for comfort.

A cemetery is a place wherein no one desires that scenes of bloodshed shall occur, but if it is true that an attempt has been made to dynamite the tomb of the martyred president at Canton no one will have else to say than that the armed guard stationed there knows what it is there for.

It should be borne in mind that in deciding how to deal with the interurban road now built to the city limits Fort Wayne will in large part be deciding how to deal with half a dozen other interurban lines. If it is made difficult for one line to get into the city capital will not be encouraged to invest in other lines that may be projected to Fort Wayne.

The disaster to a company of the Ninth infantry in the island of Samar is something of a shock to the country. Affairs in the Philippines have been moving so peaceably for some months that the impression was general that serious trouble was at an end. Samar as a matter of fact has not been subdued and pacified and for this reason it appears strange that so small a force has been kept in that island. Of course that force will now be greatly increased and a campaign of much aggressiveness and vigor will be inaugurated, but it will be some time before the bad moral effect of such an insurgent success can wear away.

President Roosevelt's ability to speak German is regarded in Berlin as a happy omen for the maintenance of the friendly relations existing between the two countries. The fact that the president's accomplishment might enable the kaiser's ambassador to converse with the former familiarly and in his native tongue is not a matter of moment, however; for the representatives of Germany abroad are not such poor linguists that they cannot make themselves understood in the language of the countries to which they are accredited. President Roosevelt's two years' residence in Germany as a student, however, may prove to have been of greater consequence. It is impossible for anybody to reside in Germany long enough to become acquainted with the people without learning to esteem them; and, as far as his personal influence may go, President Roosevelt's predisposition to be friendly with the German government and nation may count for something.

NOT ENOUGH BOERS.

A new and interesting view of the South African difficulty is presented by the Cape Colony correspondent of the London Times. This illuminator of British intelligence wrote last month that the difficulty of "fighting distances" has increased with the decrease of the number of the enemy left in the field. "For," he solemnly avers, "the fewer Boers there are left to continue hostilities the easier it becomes for them to split up into small parties and to take refuge in hiding, the harder for us to track them out and to overtake them."

Consequently the war grows harder for the English as the Boers decrease, or, in another way of putting it, the fewer the Boers the harder to conquer them. But this is a hard outlook for the British, since the more successful they are in killing or capturing the Boers the greater will be the difficulties. If only a few hundred Boers should be left the war will become almost "hopeless," as Mr. Kruger says; and the logical conclusion would seem to be that if the Boers were entirely wiped out the war would then become absolutely impossible.

What escape there can be from this dilemma is hard to see unless the British government should assemble its captives from St. Helena, Bermuda and Ceylon and turn them loose again in order to have enough Boers in the field to conquer.

PIONEERS ELECT OFFICERS

OLD SETTLERS' ORGANIZATION IS COMPLETED.

Before adjournment Saturday evening the old settlers of Allen county completed the organization of "The Old Settlers' Association of Allen County" by the election of officers for the coming year. Under the provisions of the constitution the positions of honorary president and vice president are to be filled for life by the two oldest members of the association in point of residence in Allen county. At the present time these are Louis Peltier and Mrs. Lon P. Ferry, whose residence in Allen county dates from 1814 -eighty-six years ago. Mr. Peltier and Mrs. Ferry had been invited to occupy seats upon the platform and their election to the positions was received with hearty cheers by the old settlers.

President—John W. Vordermark.
Vice President—Chester Scarlet.
Secretary—Lucien P. Stapleford.
Treasurer—Kilian Baker.

The vacancies will be filled by the executive committee of the association in the near future.

PIONEERS WERE HEARD.

Following the addresses of Judge O'Rourke and Henry C. Hanna a number of the old pioneers were heard in reminiscent remarks of an informal character. Among those who spoke were David F. Comparet, Louis Peltier, Henry Fletter and Elisha Smith, and their talks of the long ago were received with genuine interest. Another highly enjoyable feature was the "New Country Song," rendered by Joseph Falls, and the singer was vociferously applauded. It was a melody of pioneer days and was enthusiastically received.

The closing address by William Bradford Dickson, of the First Church of Christ Scientist, was an oratorical gem, and throughout it breathed the loftiest sentiment of tribute to the sturdy character, the unfailing courage and the unselfish labors of the pioneers.

Up until adjournment there were additions to the register of members of the association and still others have been added today. President Vordermark is confident the association will have a membership of several hundred within a short time. The officers are considering the matter of holding a pioneers' picnic at Swinney park before the coming of cold weather.

REV. BAILEY DISCOURSES OF NATIONAL DANGERS.

"God's Warning to a Nation" was the subject of a vigorous sermon by Rev. J. Webster Bailey at Plymouth Congregational church last evening. The preacher saw in the recent tragic events that have appalled the country the warning of lurking dangers. In part he said:

"Recent events in our national life have brought us to a halt, as a man is suddenly brought up by the sharp challenge of a midnight sentinel. Will he heed God's latest warning?

"How like a dream—a nightmare—seem these late dreadful events! Are we awake? Have we roused ourselves from sleep? Shall national toleration pass, once again, by insensible stages, into national indifference, because, as a people, we will not be warned of God? Shall American laws continue to protect the lives and property of those who have dedicated themselves to the most pestilential doctrines that men ever disseminated among their fellows? Let us cease crying, 'How long, O Lord!' and say to the best manhood of this country, 'How long, O men!'

"What further warning does this nation need to open wide its eyes, and punish with intelligent relentlessness the disseminators of viperous literature, before its poison courses in the veins of malcontents and spurs them on to commit murder?

"I am no pessimist, as you know. I look for the daybreak after every night, no matter how black it has been, nor how hard the storm has beaten. And I look now for a widespread awakening to the necessity of such legislation as shall make it fatal to the comfort of any so-called man or woman whose words, verbal or printed, incite others to deeds of violence. Aye, I believe that we will begin to regard other dangers with far less of tolerance than heretofore. The same spirit now roused to prevent the spread of poisonous literature and to inspect the quality of those who come to our shores from foreign lands, will, I doubt not, insist on the renovation of our cities and towns in other ways.

"When I observe a swarm of flies hovering around molasses I cannot help drawing the conclusion that the two have some sort of affinity for one another. By the same token, when I see that murderers and the perpetrators of such crimes serve themselves for striking the murderous blow by imbibing strong drink, I am forced to believe that these two things are in close fellowship. Where do anarchists hold their secret meeting places? Where do they assemble to hatch their plans for the assassination of presidents and emperors?

"My dear friends, this country is not always going to live a prelence. It will see now with clearer vision. And if it see and act, then only will the words of Carter Harrison one week ago last Thursday become true, when he said, looking at the pageant passing before his eyes as a tribute to the worth of the martyred president: 'This is worth the sacrifice!'

"Freedom, if it come, is worth the shedding of a nation's best blood. And it is said of him who gave his blood for the redemption of the race, 'He shall see of the travail of His soul, and be satisfied.'

"But let me ask you men a question. If one of the merchants here in Fort Wayne went down to his store on Sunday, and slipped into the rear door, and quietly let it be known that he did business there the same as on other days, with all who would come around the back way, would you not enter your protest as soon as you found it out, and insist that he obey the law and close up shop on Sunday with the rest of you? I think you would. Is there any class of men in the community so privileged that they are exempt from this law of the state and of the city?

"Theoretically you answer, 'No.' Practically you say, 'Yes.'

"If this sufferance is to be extended to any class let it be to those who deal in harmless commodities, not of those who deal out poison. If one is a law-breaker, then these are law-breakers. And I say here tonight that it is a monstrous farce and a burlesque of the best sentiments of an American citizen for a man who willingly breaks the law of his state to display in his window the face of the martyred president. That man is an enemy to his country, a disgrace to the flag, for he has allied himself in the most practical way with law-breakers. Can we not see that the selling of intoxicating liquors cares for no man the right to violate the law any more than does the selling of dry goods or hardware?

"We have heard a good deal of talk about the need of restricting the freedom of speech. What limits to place upon freedom of speech is a question for the most careful statesmanship to handle. Malicious and sensational utterances, whose evident purpose it is to create discontent with the government, or to incite to deeds of violence, should be treated as dangerous to all the best interests of the country. Freedom is not to be interpreted by the definition of license. To compel a man to talk decently can hardly be construed as curtailing his freedom of speech. If any one thinks so his definition of freedom is wrong in a country where every man has equal rights with every other.

"It is comparatively easy to distinguish between attacks on the fundamental principles of our government and attacks on men who are running for office, some of whom need to have their past thoroughly ventilated. The first is anarchistic, the other, though open to criticism, is not. One can hardly imagine where the line could be drawn which would place a limit on the freedom of speech and the liberty of the press touching the criticism of public men.

"If, every time a criticism of a certain man appeared in the papers which he thought was too drastic, or a cartoon which he believed was too true to life, and he had recourse to the law on the ground that his character was assailed, perhaps it would be discovered that he did not have any character at all, and the papers were doing a public favor by making this evident in their unique way.

"I m persuaded that the solid, dignified common sense of our best journals and newspapers, to whom we are overwhelmingly indebted for the prompt dissemination of the news we want to know and ought to know, is itself competent to deal with this question.

"What is cheap and sensational is instantly sized up as such, and it goes only for what it is worth. What is wholesome and good carries its own credentials with it, and the people are quick to discern them. There is a sufficiently large per cent of our daily newspapers that deprecate the abuse of public men and that clearly see the mischievous effect on the young of ridiculing those personages who represent law and order to not only set a good example in this respect, but teach that good journalism in America means loyalty to the government.

"Let me quote here the words of William Prentiss, a leading member of the Chicago bar, touching a proposed restriction of speech: 'The cool judgment of intellectual America will be very slow to put in jeopardy that liberty which has cost so much to obtain, but for which the world would yet be in darkness, and in chains, and without which progress would be impossible, and life itself of little value.'"

CONCORDIA COLLEGE FARM BUILDINGS BURNED.

Loss Is Estimated at $2,000—Barn of John P. Evans Gutted Early This Morning.

Fire broke out in one of the barns of Concordia college farm, corner of Walton avenue and Pontiac street, on Sunday afternoon at 3:10 and before the flames were under control several barns and outbuildings, together with a large straw stack, were entirely consumed. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

A large quantity of hay and oats was stored in the buildings, besides farm implements and several wagons, all of which were destroyed. Several pigs were quartered in a small enclosure outside one of the barns, and while the fire was at its height the animals dashed into the flames and were roasted to death.

An alarm at 2:50 this morning called the department to extinguish a bad blaze in the barn of John P. Evans, 126 East Main street. The fire had gained considerable headway before being discovered and before the flames were under control the upper part of the building had been burned away. The loss on the building and contents is estimated at $500.

RED RIBBON MEETING.

Secretary Will H. Fleming, of the Red Ribbon meeting, left today for Terre Haute to attend the races there in the interest of the races here next week. The entries for the Red Ribbon races close tomorrow night and there is every indication that all the classes will be filled bang up, that the races will be good, the horses of the best and the meeting a pronounced success. Today eight representatives left for various towns where race meetings are in progress this week to secure entries before the close of the books tomorrow evening. The gentlemen who are thus interesting themselves and the meetings they have gone to attend are as follows: Will H. Fleming, Terre Haute; Joe Evans, Portland; Carl Hale, Wapakoneta; Henry Mouning, Kendallville; G. L. Chisholm, Hillsdale; Willis Pearse, Hamilton, Ohio; Charles Hauvert, Springfield, Ill.; George H. Brown, Chicago.

There was a large attendance at the Aboit township Sunday school convention Sunday. Interesting addresses were made by A. Bowersox, J. C. F. McMakin, Rev. J. H. Wingate, Rev. W. H. Clay and others. The following township officers were elected for the coming year: Township president, E. O. Clay; vice president, A. J. Hyatt; superintendent of home department, A. Bowersox; secretary and treasurer, Baker Kennedy. The Hyatt quartet rendered excellent music.

ABOUT THE COURT HOUSE

The circuit court jury came in this morning according to order and was promptly discharged until next Monday.

Testimony was being taken today in the circuit court looking to the consignment to the feebleminded institute of Eva Herderson, an adult, refused by the hospital authorities at Richmond, and now a charge on Allen county.

E. J. Woodworth has filed his final report as trustee of the old Wayne club fund and asks to be discharged.

Workmen this morning commenced the erection of the scaffolding for the artists who will this week commence the decorations of the interior of the court house dome. The scaffolding of itself is a pretty tremendous affair. The work was sub-let by Contractor Adams to a local carpenter.

Sheriff Stout this morning, under protest, appointed a matron for the county jail; his wife, Mrs. Catherine Stout, was the appointee. The law requires that all counties with a population of more than 50,000 shall have a matron at the county jail, who shall be appointed by the sheriff. The law also fixes her salary at $50 a month, but does not provide who shall pay such salary. The law does not authorize the county commissioners to pay it and does not instruct the sheriff to pay it. It does, however, expressly stipulate that a matron shall be appointed. Acting under advice of the county attorney and the county commissioners, Sheriff Stout this morning appointed his wife. When the question of providing funds is settled the sheriff will probably make another appointment, but as long as it looks as though the whole business might terminate in a labor of love, he prefers to keep the credit in his own family, which no one can charge as being discreditable. In response to inquiries directed to the sheriffs at Terre Haute and Evansville, he was informed that in the counties in which those cities are situated the county council had made appropriations of $50 a month for the salary of matron and that so far as they knew the appropriation is legal. Sheriff Stout will present the matter as soon as the council meets again, and in the meantime has complied with the law as best he understood it.

FIRST TRAIN RUNS OVER THE SOUTHWESTERN.

FORT WAYNE CITIZENS AND OFFICIALS GO.

NEW LINE IS WELL BUILT

Interurban roads for Fort Wayne are no longer a dim possibility of the future and are no longer a prospect surrounded with doubt and having an actual existence only on paper and the maps of the festive promoter.

The first train has come and gone, the chimera has been dissolved and the interurban road has a real, live existence that moves and has a being and can be seen with the nked eye. It is true that, owing to conditions which should not exist, the road has not yet been constructed through the streets of the city, yet it has extended itself inside the limits and it is hoped will soon stretch its sinuous length to the very heart of Fort Wayne.

AN INSPECTION PARTY.

On invitation of Manager Nelson and his associates in the Southwestern Traction company about one hundred and twenty Fort Wayne gentlemen took a trip from this city to Huntington over the company's lines last Saturday. The visiting party was heterogeneous in composition, but very homogeneous in sentiment. There were lawyers and doctors, capitalists and bankers, city and county officials, merchants and mechanics, newspaper men and politicians. The start was made from the company's bridge at Taylor street, which was as far down town as the track has been sufficiently lined up to carry cars, and it was a good spot to start from, anyway. At this point two of the handsome new cars of the company were found waiting, and as it was soon seen that two cars would not accommodate the party, an ordinary flat car, used for construction purposes, was pressed into service, and it was the best one in the bunch for observation purposes. Chairs were scattered about in regular boudoir style and the car was voted a pronounced success. The seat of honor in the middle was occupied by Mayor Berghoff, who had earlier declared his intention of remaining at home. He could not stand the pressure, however, and was finally induced to become one of the party. Before the train started there was the usual succession of camera shots, and photographs of the first interurban train were taken by Artist Miner from every available point of view.

FIRST TRAIN STARTS.

Finally the shrill toot of the steam whistle announced that the minute of departure was at hand and in a moment the chug of the locomotive resounded, the wheels began to turn and the first passenger train was under way. For it must be remembered that in this trip a locomotive was necessary. The company's power house at Huntington is not yet completed, although the massive Corliss engines have been set up for a month or more and work is progressing rapidly. The great steel strike prevented the contractors from getting steel for the structural work of the building. So, in order to get the necessary transportation power, the company construction engine was hitched on to the cars and the trip was regularly made, only that it was an electric car trip by steam power, but that did not detract from the interest. After the train started and the cigars had been duly distributed by uniformed waiters, the guests of the company betook themselves to enjoying the beautics of the surroundings. Many years ago locomotion was practised along the same line, but it was of a different character.

THE OLD MULE ROUTE.

Along the whole line of the road, half a century ago, the patient mule took the place of the locomotive and canal boats glided along the same route where now the train was moving. The first eight or ten miles of the track going westward from Fort Wayne are rather rough, inasmuch as in some parts the ballasting is onl partly completed and in some not even commenced. Over this portion of the road the run was of necessity slow, but the limited rate of speed did not detract from the interest of the occasion. Charles McCulloch was aboard and he detailed with much interest how the twelve hundred acres of his farm through which the train was then passing was a comparatively few years ago, for the most part, little less than waste land. Adjoining his big farm came the farm of J. C. Peters, and that gentleman, also present, pointed out several bunches of cattle grazing on the lowlands, which was a few years ago an almost inaccessible swamp. The Bash farm was next in line and the venerable S. Bash being spied directing the devious progress of a plow, the train was stopped and he was invited to get aboard, but the invitation was declined. Then T. E. Ellison pointed across the prairie and located his Mondamin Meadows farm buildings, which lie about half a mile or so from the Southwestern track. The gravel pit was next reached, and here the train was again stopped while a load of gravel was picked up and taken back up the track, the purpose being to give the excursionists an opportunity of seeing how the ballast was unloaded and distributed by the use of the Rodgers patent ballast cars and plows.

TRACK WELL BALLASTED.

From the point on the track is perfectly ballasted, the joints are up and the rail is as level as that of any trunk line in the country. Good time was made from there to Roanoke, and while speed was no object on the trip, just to show that it could be done, the engineer opened her up a bit and a short stretch was done at the rate of forty miles an hour. Roanoke was reached about an hour late, but the whole town seemed to have turned out to welcome the first train, and a number of Roanoke citizens joined the party there. Henry G. Paul declined an opportunity to make a speech and Attorney Doughman, counsellor for the company, could not be induced to say anything more than ask one of the citizens for an apple. A mile or two beyond Roanoke the second gravel pit was reached and here the train was again stopped to see the workings of the big steam shovel, which loads gravel on the cars at the rate of a yard a minute, and with a capacity of three cars an hour when pushed, each car containing thirty yards. From the gravel pit the run was quickly made, and as the city of Huntington was approached the progress of the construction of the road was made noticeable every mile. The road is building from Huntington east, and consequently by the system used the most complete portion of the road is that nearest the other end.

A PERFECT ROAD.

About five miles this side of Huntington the road is complete, which means that it is perfected ballasted, the track is leveled, the trolleys are strung, the tension wires are in place, the telephone wires are ready for use, the right of way is enclosed on both sides with a neat woven wire fence, and the poles are painted—the upper portion white, and the butts black. Talking about poles, the writer, who has seen many lines of telegraph and other pole construction, completed and under way, never saw as symetrical a piece of work in his life. Each pole is straight, is hand shaved, is set in perfect alignment with its neighbor, and along a straight piece of track the line of poles looks like a well built picket fence of huge proportions. Arrived at Huntington, the party was obliged to disembark about 600 feet east of the Chicago and Erie railroad crossing and walk to the power house, which lies just beyond the railroad tracks. The subway under the Erie tracks is not yet completed, owing to the inability of the contractor to get the necessary stone. The difficulty, as previously stated in these columns, lies between the stone quarry owners and the Big Four railroad at Greensburg, Ind. About seventy more car loads are necessary to complete the job. As above related the power house is incomplete, but work is progressing as rapidly as the material can be secured. At the power house a pleasant surprise awaited the Fort Wayne party.

A CORDIAL RECEPTION.

The people of Huntington had evidently made a determined effort to give the visitors a cordial welcome, and they succeeded in doing it. About fifty vehicles, from single buggies to three-seated traps, nearly all rubber tired, were in waiting, and the excursionists were piled into them whether or no. A drive all around the city was the first thing on the program, and after the drive was completed the Fort Wayneites were turned loose for half an hour to stretch their legs. The first stop made by the long procession of carriages was at St. Mary's Catholic church, one of the finest in the city and a very pretty piece of architectural work and design. Huntington was shown up in its best light and nothing was kept hidden under a bushel or elsewhere. After the drive was abandoned some refreshments and a light lunch were provided at Manager Nelson's expense and shortly after 5 o'clock all the excursionists had again been delivered at the impromptu station near the Erie tracks. The ride home was more rapid than the down trip, until darkness overtook the train, after which progress was of necessity slow, for safety's sake, the darkness being at the rough end of the road. It was about 7:30 when the crowd disembarked at the Taylor street bridge, and there was but one sentiment, and that was that interurban roads and Manager Nelson are the best two things that ever happened.

WHAT SHALL WE EAT

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best, in spite of the

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables or grains.

Dr. Julius Remusson on this subject says: Nervous persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat plenty of meat. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be easily strengthened by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three or four hours, while the malt diastase also contained in Stuart's Tablets cause the perfect digestion of starchy foods, like potatoes, bread, etc., and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if a regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply the pepsin and diastase so necessary to perfect digestion, and any form of indigestion and stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach will be overcome by their daily use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its complete digestion by the systematic use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, composed of the natural digestive principles, peptones and diastase, which actually perform the work of digestion and give the abused stomach a chance to rest and to furnish the body and brain with the necessary nutriment. Cheap cathartic medicines masquerading under the name of dyspepsia cures are useless for relief or cure of indigestion, because they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the indigestion is to make daily use at meal time of a safe preparation which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles, and all this can truly be said of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A YOUTHFUL THIEF.

Albert Cramer, a lad of ten years, was up before Police Judge Loultit this afternoon, charged with stealing a horse at the corner of Lewis and Calhoun streets on Saturday. The little fellow admitted that he stole the horse and said that he tried to sell the outfit at prices ranging from $50 down to $2. This is the fourth time young Cramer has been before the court. Once for stealing a watch, once for stealing $2 from his sister and once for some other theft. The judge gave him a lecture, pictured to him the horrors of the reform school at Plainfield, and turned him over to his mother with instructions to send him to school. Young Cramer was as much impressed by the lecture and his position as he would have been had the judge handed him a stick of chewing gum.

VIEWED FROM A DISTANCE.

[Indianapolis News.]

There are murky times, indeed, in the political affairs of that rock-ribbed citadel of Bryan democracy, Allen county and the city of Fort Wayne, when a gentleman like Michael V. Walsh, an ardent candidate until now for the democratic nomination for county auditor, withdraws from the canvass because of the reckless management of the auditor's office, and the demoralization of county affairs generally. Recently the county auditor confessed himself a defaulter, but asserted that he could make restitution in time for the next quarterly settlement. His bondsmen, however, were skeptical, and they instituted an inquiry which resulted in the auditor being deposed de facto, while he continued auditor de jure; the bondsmen placing a personal representative in charge of affairs. Then an expert examination ordered by the county commissioners was heard from, increasing the shortage threefold over the deficiency admitted by the defaulter in his original confession, and there is a feeling throughout Allen county that the worst is not yet known. For many years the county and city have been dominated by a ring, which apportioned the offices and managed affairs with a careless hand, until the evident result of such carelessness and extravagance confronts the taxpaying public in the conditions now presented. However, it will blow over. It always does blow over in Allen county, for whenever inquiry becomes too impertinent, the leaders have but to raise the cry that the ticket is endangered, not only in the county of Allen, but in the state at large, and the average Allen county taxpayer makes haste to drop his dissent, so that his loyalty to party can not be questioned. Because of this the evil has grown, and there is no relief in sight.

EDITORS ELECT OFFICERS.

Elkhart, Ind., Sept. 28.—The Northern Indiana Editorial association, at its meeting in this city, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, E. A. Jernegan, Mishawaka; first vice president, John W. Barnes, Logansport; second vice president, Bent Wilson, of Lafayette; third vice president, W. D. Page, of Fort Wayne; secretary and treasurer, J. S. Conlogue, Kendallville. These officers and the following constitute the executive committee: J. B. Stoll, J. E. McDonald, C. W. Metsger, F. D. Haimbaugh, of Muncie, and J. A. Kantz, of Kokoma. The delegates to the National Editorial association meeting to be held at Hot Springs, Ark., in 1902, are Bayard Gray, of Frankfort; Dale Crittenberger, of Anderson; C. B. Unger, of Middletown; J. B. Stoll, A. P. Kent, J. A. Barnes and F. D. Haimbaugh; alternates, C. D. Tillo, J. W. Barnes, Gordon Murray, S. B. McManus, of Elkhart; Bent Wilson, of Lafayette; H. S. K. Bartholemew, of Warsaw, and Charles Haas, of Wabash. South Bend was selected as the place of the next meeting, the executive committee to fix the date.

FIGHTS WITH UNTAMED LION.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 28.—Steve Lawrence, the lion tamer of the Bostock-Ferari animal show, exhibiting at the Elks' carnival in this city, last night narrowly escaped death in a combat with the untamed lion Wallace. Prof. Lawrence had completed his act and while making his exit from the cage slipped and fell. The big lion was upon him in an instant. The animal was fought off by the attendants with iron bars after Prof. Lawrence had sustained injuries and his clothes nearly torn off. Attending physicians say he will recover.

SPEED OF VARIOUS FISH.

The dolphin is credited with a speed of considerably over twenty miles an hour. For short distances the salmon can outstrip any other fish, accomplishing twenty-five miles an hour with ease. The Spanish mackerel is one of the fastest of food fishes and cuts the water like a yacht. Predatory fishes are generally the fastest swimmers.

Last year there were registered in Paris somewhat over 5,000 motor carriages and about 11,000 motor cycles, the latter comprising motor bicycles, motor tricycles and the like. Practically all of the French automobiles have been of the internal-combustion type.

NEWS OF THE DIAMOND

This week closes the season of a memorable base ball year. It also marks the termination of the national agreement by limitation, although the agreement may be renewed. Such a contingency is, however, improbable unless different conditions prevail, and at any rate nothing definite can be determined upon for some months. What Fort Wayne has been mostly interested in was, of course, the Western association and its clubs. Notwithstanding the welching tactics of Deacon Ellis, the turn-tail-and-run policy of Watkins, of Indianapolis, and the failure of Louisville to support Wilmot's team, the association pulled through safely and with a full membership at the close. The war between the National league and the American league did not make any money for the latter association and the "big boys" as usual came out ahead on the financial proposition, and that is all there is to it, anyway. Chicago made a determined fight, and while the American league team under Comiskey won the American league pennant, Tom Loftus' rank tail-enders in the old National made the money. Pittsburg, who were rated by only one base ball authority at and before the commencement of the '01 season as the pennant winners, made good the kind words of their sponsor, and although the season does not close until the 6th inst., the Pirates have the flag securely cinched. Fort Wayne was more or less of a St. Louis town, but will see its favorite at the rear end of the first division, but still in it, and the Cincinnati fans, of whom there are a number in Fort Wayne, will have to content themselves with seeing their club finish with seven others ahead of them. The base ball season as it existed this morning is as follows:

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Philadelphia	77	56	.580
Brooklyn	77	58	.570
St. Louis	73	61	.544
Boston	67	67	.500
New York	52	81	.391
Cincinnati	51	80	.389
Chicago	52	85	.380

GAMES YESTERDAY.

Brooklyn, 4; Chicago, 1.
St. Louis, 9-3; New York, 4-2.
Cincinnati, 2-2; Pittsburg, 1-1.

GAMES TODAY.

Boston at Pittsburg.
New York at St. Louis.
Philadelphia at Cincinnati.

SHAMROCKS WIN AGAIN.

At Muncie yesterday afternoon the Shamrocks defeated Muncie by a score of 8 to 2. Sheppard, the Matthews pitcher, started in to do the club work, but the Shamrocks put him out of the business in five innings. All the Fort Wayne boys hit hard, Cherry and Mahan doing the best stick work. Robbins was too much for the Magic City team. His support was fast. Tieman caught his usual fine game. The game was witnessed by a large crowd. Amos Rusie, the erstwhile king of twirlers, held the indicator. This makes the Shamrocks' fifth straight victory—defeating Tiffin, Logansport, Bremen, Columbia City and Muncie. The score:

Shamrocks	8	16	3
Muncie	2	7	5

SHAMROCKS AT COLUMBIA CITY.

The Shamrocks will leave for Columbia City at 12:15 tomorrow noon, via the Pittsburg, where they will play the Bremen Greens. Bremen is coming loaded for the Shamrocks, but if the Fort Wayne aggregation keep up their present gait they will win the game.

NEWS OF THE GRIDIRON.

The high school team easily defeated the International Business college eleven at League park Saturday afternoon, by a score of 17 to 0. The result was somewhat of a surprise for the business college rooters, as it was thought the team could put up a much stiffer game. McBennett, Coppock and Hutzell were the star performers on the business college eleven, while Preston, McCormick, Parry and Wilt played a brilliant game for the high school. Wilt's recovery of a fumble and sprint of fifty yards for a touchdown was the signal for much rooting by the high school sympathizers. The business college team lost every chance for a score by fumbling, and were unable to hold the ball for more than four downs during the entire game. It was the first game of the season for both teams, however, and much better things are expected later on. The officials were: Referee, Brown; umpire, Menzies; linesmen, Hamilton and Reitze; timekeepers, Smith and Parry.

The Nebraska team has been organized for the season and the line-up is as follows: Right end, E. Wolf; right tackle, J. Stover; right guard, O. Hutzell; center, Donnhue; left guard, O. Loos; left tackle, Hamilton; left end, E. Hutsell; right half back, J. Falvy; full back, T. Seitz; left half back, J. McCarthy; quarter back, Shoenbine. Teams desiring games will address Todd Seitz, 10 Elm street.

The Saturday high school-business college game was well patronized and the High School Athletic association will net a neat sum for the athletic fund.

Fort Wayne has six good foot ball teams, the greatest number in years, and some excellent games will be witnessed at League park between now and December.

Raynor's questioning developed considerable discrepancy between what Captain Jewell thought he had coal enough to do and what he actually did have enough to do.

He was excused and Captain McCalla recalled to correct his testimony. In response to question Captain McCalla said that it would not have been possible to see the Spanish ships if they had been in the harbor at Cienfuegos. Court adjourned for luncheon when Captain McCalla had finished.

ADMIRAL EVANS HEARD.

When the court convened for the afternoon session Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, who, as captain, commanded the battleship Iowa during the battle of Santiago, was called to the witness stand.

He stated that he had first joined the flying squadron off Cienfuegos on May 22 at 1 p. m., when he took dispatches from Admiral Sampson to Commodore Schley. These dispatches he had sent to Commodore Schley by his executive officer, Commander Rogers, he not seeing the commodore himself. As the dispatches were sealed he did not know their contents.

Judge Advocate—"Please state what, if anything, was done while the squadron was off Cienfuegos toward developing the fact as to whether the Spanish squadron under Admiral Cervera was or was not in the harbor of Cienfuegos?"

"There was nothing done so far as I know."

"What, if anything, within your knowledge was done toward destroying or preventing the further completion of the enemy's batteries in the vicinity of Cienfuegos?"

"On Sunday afternoon, I am quite sure it was, Commodore Schley formed his squadron in columns and stood in to a range of a about a mile and a half from short, made a turn and stood out again. That is the only thing I know."

"Was any attack made upon the enemy or by the enemy at that time?"

"No. They all got up and stood on the breastworks and looked at us. We steamed out again. There was no firing on either side."

"Were you then within range of the batteries in the vicinity of Cienfuegos with the heavier guns of your ship?"

"I did not see any batteries. There was a work they were completing there."

"Were you within range of this?"

"The battery of the Iowa consisted of what?"

"Four twelve-inch, eight eight-inch and twelve four-inch guns."

"Were those embryo batteries within range of your eight-inch guns when you steamed in?"

IN EASY RANGE.

"Were they within range of the four-inch guns?"

"I should thing so, yes."

"Did the Iowa coal ship while in Cienfuegos and if so how much did she take?"

"We took in 250 tons of coal on the 23rd. We began about 7 in the morning and stopped at 6 in the afternoon. We took coal from a collier alongside the Merrimac, I think."

Admiral Evans said that he had coaled the Iowa from the Merrimac on May 23 while off Cienfuegos and that he had no difficulty in doing so.

THE WEATHER.

Speaking of the condition of the weather made by the Iowa on May 24 and 25, the witness said that on the evening of the 24th it was squally; that on the morning of the 25th the sky was overcast and that the weather was again squally, on the afternoon it was worse, there being a good deal of rain with a long sea.

He said that after leaving Cienfuegos the vessel had steamed to a point about thirty miles south of Santiago, arriving there on the evening of the 26th, and that at that time the squadron was heading to the east. The weather at that time, he said, was not such as to prevent the coaling of ships at that date. The Iowa at that time had about 825 tons of coal aboard, or sufficient for steaming 3,000 miles.

On blockade the ship used about thirty or forty tons of coal a day.

"Why was the retrograde movement made?" asked Judge Advocate Lemley.

"I do not know," was the reply.

The witness said he could have coaled at sea on the 27th, as the sea was smooth.

"Was any effort made by the flying squadron on May 28, 29 or 30 to communicate with the insurgents on shore near Santiago?"

"None to my knowledge."

BOMBARDMENT OF COLON.

Testifying that he had first seen the Colon on May 29th, Admiral Evans said that the vessel was not inside the harbor at all, but was about 1,500 yards inside the Morro.

He then detailed the particulars of the bombardment of the Colon on May 31, saying that on the forenoon of that day Commodore Schley had signalled to transfer his flag to the Massachusetts; that he was going in to engage the Colon. Describing that engagement the witness said:

"About five minutes to 1 I saw the first shot from the Massachusetts fall short a long distance and supposing she was firing at 7,000 yards I gave the range to my guns 8,000 yards. I saw these shots fall short and increased the range to 9,000 yards. After the Massachusetts had passed the entrance to the harbor she turned with port helm and steamed back, the New Orleans and the Iowa following. On the run back across the harbor I again fired at 10,000 yards, the shots still fell short, and as the Massachusetts and New Orleans slowed down and stopped after they got across I slowed my engines, then increased the range to 11,000 yards, and fired two shots from the forward twelve-inch turret. The first one was fired by Lieutenant Van Dueser at 11,000 yards.

SHOT FELL SHORT.

"I saw that it fell short. Lieutenant Hill had the other gun in that turret. I gave him the range at 11,500 yards and he fired and that shot struck very near the stern of the Colon. Both twelve-inch guns were disabled at the fire from that extreme elevation. Afterward we stood a mile and half, possibly two miles, to our blockading station again. That was all I saw done to injure the Colon."

The witness was then asked about the blockade off Santiago under Commodore Schley. He said the squadron stood seven or eight miles out during the day time and a little farther out at night, with the Vixen and the Marblehead on the inside at night. The judge advocate asked the witness concerning a statement by a lieutenant of the Spanish navy, printed by the navy department, to the effect that at dark the American ships withdrew to the southward, disappearing.

The introduction of this book was objected to and Admiral Dewey said: "The witness has already told what distance was maintained by the fleet. We don't care for that kind of information. Admiral Evans was there and can answer for himself. We want facts; not newspaper articles."

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Corn had a quiet opening on the board of trade today, December starting 1/8c lower to 1/8c higher at 56 1/8c to 56 7/8c on depressed cables. The offerings at first were moderate, but soon gave way under December local buying, which seemed to indicate a market heavily short over Sunday. Under this influence December advanced to 57 1/8c, but on the rise there was a quantity of the cereal offered in small lots all over the pit and prices eased to 56 3/4@57c. Trade was mostly quiet. Receipts were 354 cars.

Corn early lost the slight support from commission houses and December declined to 56 1/4c. Later on shorts covering December closed easy 3/8c lower at 56 3/8c.

Trade in wheat at the opening was dull, December starting a shade lower to a shade higher at 70 1/8c to 70 1/4c on indifferent cables. The reaction in corn was helpful, and on St Louis buying December advanced to 70 1/2c. Local receipts were 130 cars, 4 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth received 1,412 cars, making a total for the three points of 1,551 cars, against 1,179 last week and 1,207 a year ago. The world's wheat shipments were 8,778,000 bushels last week, compared with 9,344,000 bushels a week ago and 8,258,000 bushels last year. Wheat on passage decreased 1,080,000 bushels.

Following corn, December wheat declined to 69 7/8@70c and closed easy a shade higher at 70 1/4c.

Oats started quiet, December opening a shade to 1/8c lower in sympathy with corn and under light custom house selling, but following the reaction in corn and on a fairly good support advanced to 35 5/8c. Receipts were 248 cars.

Provisions had a dull opening with but one or two sales during the first hour. January pork opened 7 1/2c higher at $16.22 1/2 in sympathy with a higher hog market and sold to $16.25. January lard opened unchanged at $9.30, and January ribs 5c up at $8.40.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 30.—The market was weak at the opening, heavy offerings of Amalgamated Copper carrying it down 1/4. There were losses of 1 to 1 1/8 for St. Paul, Anaconda, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific preferred, Manhattan, Rock Island and Canada Southern. Three thousand five hundred shares of United States Steel sold at 43 3/4 to 44, compared with 44 1/4 on Saturday. The preferred stock was up 1/8, the only stock on the list to show a gain. New York, Chicago and St. Louis broke sharply 3 3/4.

The selling movement extended to various other inactive and prominent stocks which lost between 1 and 2 3/4 points, the latter New York, Chicago and St. Louis second preferred. Supporting orders then appeared in Amalgamated and Manhattan and their rallies of a point caused some improvement in railroad stocks. New York Central dividend, Pacific Mail, St. Louis Southestern preferred and Keokuk and Des Moines preferred were exceptionally strong and sold from 1 to 3 1/4 over Saturday's close with the latter leading.

The rally was checked by renewed liquidation in Amalgamated, which fell to 88 3/8. Acute weakness developed in other leaders, losses reaching 2 to 2 3/8 in St. Paul, Rock Island, Consolidated Gas, Missouri Pacific and Kansas and Texas preferred. United States Steel fell a point. Prices generally reached the lowest of the morning and later rallies were feeble and not well sustained.

Bonds were irregular.

THE MONEY MARKET.

New York, Sept. 30.—Money on call steady at 4 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 4 3/4@5 1/2 per cent; sterling exchange easier with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.85 1/8@4.85 1/4 for demand and at $4.82@4.83 1/4 for 60 days; posted rates, $4.84 and $4.86 1/2; commercial bills, $4.82@4.83; silver certificates unquoted; bar silver, 58 3/8c; Mexican dollars, 45 1/2c.

No External Symptoms.

The blood may be in bad condition, yet with no external signs, no skin eruption or sores to indicate it. The symptoms in such cases being a variable appetite, poor digestion, an indescribable weakness and nervousness, loss of flesh and a general run-down condition of the system—clearly showing the blood has lost its nutritive qualities, has become thin and watery. It is in just such cases that S. S. S. has done some of its quickest and most effective work by building up the blood and supplying the elements lacking to make it strong and vigorous.

"My wife used several bottles of S. S. S. as a blood purifier and to tone up a weak and emaciated system, with very marked effect by way of improvement.

SSS is the greatest of all tonics, and you will find the appetite improves at once, strength returns, and nervousness vanishes as new rich pure blood once more circulates through all parts of the system.

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known. It contains no minerals whatever. Send for our free book on blood and skin diseases and write our physicians for any information or advice wanted. No charge for medical advice.

BRAKEMAN GUS MEYERS HURT

The closing day of the Sunday excursion season was not one of the best of the summer, but it was a surprise to the railway people, for the crowds on the various excursions were larger than expected. The Grand Rapids and Indiana road took 560 people into Cincinnati, 333 of them from Fort Wayne. The same road had about 195 to Rome City, most of them fishermen. The Lake Erie and Western had big crowds in and out of the city. That road brought in 491 people from Muncie and points north of that city, and sold 367 tickets at this point for Indianapolis. The Wabash had two excursion trains out of the city yesterday, and both were well filled. The westbound train carried 119 of our people to Danville and picked up many more en route, and the eastbound train had aboard 258 Fort Wayne people, 199 to Toledo and fifty-nine to Detroit. This crowd received additions at all stations also, and the train went into Toledo well filled. The Cincinnati excursion of the Grand Rapids road was the second best of the season. The best record was 400 excursionists for that point out of this city.

NOW TRAVELING SALESMAN.

Harry B. Fitzpatrick, for several years engaged upon special work in the mechanical and motive power departments of the Pennsylvania, resigned Saturday evening, and this morning went to Chicago to assume a position with Sargent & Co., manufacturers and dealers in railway supplies of all description. Mr. Fitzpatrick will spend two or three weeks in the foundry department, familiarizing himself with the products, and will then take the road as a salesman for the firm. He will have headquarters in the Colony building, in Chicago. Mr. Fitzpatrick is a son of Master Mechanic B. Fitzpatrick, of the Pennsylvania shops.

HE VISITS OLD FRIENDS.

Harry McKinley, of Cleveland, a member of a firm extensively engaged in the manufacture of electrical supplies, was the guest of Fort Wayne friends over Sunday, leaving this morning for the west over the Wabash. Mr. McKinley worked in the Pittsburg shops, the Kerr Murray works and the electric works at different times several years ago and is well acquainted with all the men employed there. He called at the Pittsburg shops this morning to see his friends.

SHOP FORCES INCREASE.

Additions to the shop forces of the various railways and manufacturing establishments of the city have been made recently to keep abreast of the increased demand for the products of the establishments which the fall and winter months bring. Foreman G. A. Sztuk, of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, added the names of Louis Keip and H. W. Kartholl to the pay rolls of that department, and Foreman P. J. Scheid, of the roundhouse, gave employment to Benjamin F. Kennedy and William King, who will serve in the capacity of engine cleaner and assistant hostler, respectively. Numerous other applications await the action of the medical examiner. At the electric works, where additions to the force have been numerous lately, Machinist William P. Hart and John Schultz were given positions this morning.

GUS MEYERS HURT.

Gustav G. Meyers, a Pennsylvania brakeman, is in St. Joseph hospital, suffering from injuries received at Hobart, Ind., last Saturday. For two weeks Mr. Meyers has been working on a local run between Valparaiso and Chicago in place of a man who was injured. At Hobart Saturday he was standing between the double tracks, waiting for his caboose to come along, the train just starting from the station, when he was struck on the back of the head by a stake which protruded from a stock car in a train on the other track going in an opposite direction. The blow threw Meyers against the cars of the local, cutting a bad gash on his left temple and removing the greater portion of the skin from the left cheek. His left eye was also injured, but no serious trouble is apprehended from that source. Gus Meyers has been in the train service of the Pittsburg two or three months only. He was formerly employed in the boiler shops of the Wabash as an apprentice. He is a brother of Herman J. Meyers, assistant foreman of the composing room of The Sentinel, and for a short time he was employed in that department as an apprentice.

BURGLARY OF M'CARTHY HOME

Engineer Jerry W. McCarthy, of the Pittsburg, and Engineer Michael McCarthy, of the Nickel Plate, went to Crestline Sunday upon receipt of news of the burglary of their mother's house in that city. The thieves got $30 in cash and some valuable jewelry. At the time of the robbery there were only Mrs. McCarthy and her daughter in the house and the burglars seemed to know this, for they made no effort to be quiet in their work, fearing no interference from the occupants.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

G. J. Mills, of the Pittsburg shops, is sick and off duty.

After nearly a month's absence, Nickel Plate Fireman Capser has returned to work.

John Murphy has resigned his position in the machine department of the lectric works. He does not give his reasons.

J. L. Hanna, file clerk in the motive power offices of the Pittsburg, has returned from his vacation and is on duty again.

Supt. D. F. Crawford returned from the east this morning. He witnessed the race between the Columbia and the Shamrock Saturday.

Engineer J. E. Long had a cinder in one of his eyes, which caused him great pain and compelled him to seek the aid of Dr. R. Parks White.

W. G. Page, air brake inspector at the Pittsburg round house, has taken a ten days' leave of absence, which he will devote to pleasure and rest.

M. E. Ingalls, president of the Big Four, positively asserts that there is no truth in the report that he intends to remove from Cincinnati to New York.

The furnace at the big axle hammer at the Bass 'smith shops broke down last night and the hammer is closed down until the furnace can be repaired.

Machinist J. Michaels, who was sick, and E. P. Luley, who had a hand injured last week, resumed their positions at the Pittsburg shops this morning.

Christian Bahret has returned from the west, where he has been for the past two months. He will resume his position at the electric works in a few days.

John Dunn, who has been engaged for two or three months in setting up some machinery for the Bass company in Connecticut and Massachusetts, returned home Saturday night.

C. F. Baum and C. M. Tindall, Nickel Plate trainmen, have gone to Fort Seneca for a week's sojourn. The county fair is on this week at that place. Mrs. Baum accompanied her husband.

Nickel Plate Conductor F. M. Wehrling, who was on local freight between Stony Island and Knox in place of Conductor Charles, has returned to the city to resume through freight work.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kress have returned from Bluffton, where they attended the reunion of the Ohio and Indiana people last Thursday. Mr. Kress resumed his duties at the electric works this morning.

An immense balance wheel, built in two sections, left the Bass works this morning for Terre Haute, where it will become a part of the steam plant the Bass company is installing for the Highland Steel company.

The Baltimore and Ohio is equipping five of its locomotives with the fire box invented by Cornelius Vanderbilt, and proposes to give it a thorough test. The new box is not meeting with much favor from engineers, it is stated.

In handling the train which carried the people to Canton, Ohio, who left Washington to attend the funeral of the late President McKinley, the managers of the Pennsylvania railroad made unusual arrangements, and for the first time in railroad history a solid train was run through from Altoona to Canton, 218 miles.

W. G. Berdelman has taken a position as brakeman on the Nickel Plate.

J. W. Hilgeman, a construction man, has returned from Defiance, where he was engaged in installing electrical machinery a few days.

Nickel Plate Conductor E. J. Harper, who was at Cleveland a few days, reported for work this morning. Brakeman F. H. Wolf, who was sick, also reported for work on that road.

Bellevue Gazette: "Several Nickel Plate men would like to move their families here from Fort Wayne and Conneaut, but are prevented from doing so by the scarcity of houses.—Passenger Brakeman Harry Rouzer, who was granted a vacation in order to get married, is now settled in his new home, on Northwest street and reported for duty today."

The Electric company has resumed the shipment of electrical machinery, which was in a way hampered a few days by the improvements in progress at the works. A 200-light dynamo was sent to Summitville today to be placed in the pumping station of the Fort Wayne Gas company, and a motor was sent to the Laclede Electric Light company, of St. Louis.

J. H. Cody, of the Pittsburg planing mills, has a coin issued in 1837 and bearing the words of Ambassador Pinckney in reply to the inquiry, "What the Americans will pay to avoid a war with France." Mr. Cody has carried this coin for forty-six years, and, although he has been offered 200 times its value, he still retains it as a pocket piece.

The West Jersey and Seashore road has received two passenger engines of the largest type in the world. Each carries twenty-eight tons on each pair of its driving wheels, which are seven feet high, and the engine carries 205 pounds of steam pressure. One of the peculiarities of these engines is that the driving power is applied to the rear driving wheel by a direct rod, thence by a parallel rod to the front driver.

The fellow clerks of Harry W. Fisher, of the Pittsburg freight house, tell a story concerning him that eclipses all previous absent-minded incidents of recent date. While en route home Saturday Mr. Fisher's mind was so occupied with thoughts of the young wife who was awaiting his coming, that he removed his valuable pipe from his mouth and tossed it into the St. Mary's river, thinking it was a cigar stub. He instantly saw the mistake and then made a vain effort to recover the smoker, which was a much prized affair because of its associations. The boys at the freight house are having a lot of fun over the incident at Harry's expense.

Charles Egg, of the electric works, caught his first fish yesterday and it was a "dandy." With George Platt, Mr. Egg went up the St. Joe and shortly after casting his hook something gave the line a vigorous pull. Mr. Egg forgot all about the reel, and getting hold of the line he pulled it in, hand over hand, until a ten-pound pickerel stuck his nose above the surface of the water. Then Mr. Egg called to his companion and gave a jerk at the line, which landed the fish on the bank. Then the fisherman took a safe distance and awaited the arrival of Mr. Platt, who reached the point just in time to prevent the pickerel from kicking himself back into the water. What Mr. Egg lacks in piscatorial experience he more than makes up in luck and will hereafter be considered a mascot whom all fishermen will want for a partner.

USUAL MONDAY GRIST BEFORE JUDGE LOUTTIT.

There was considerable doing at police court this morning, and while Judge Louttit found himself pretty busy for a short time, none of the cases are likely to produce night sweats. John Martin and Jack Devany, late Saturday night or early Sunday morning succeeded to load up enough fire water to give them a beautiful sosh apiece. They got jealous of each other and Jack insisted that he had the most esthetic jag. Martin wouldn't stand for the reflection on his package and proceeded to mix it up with the esthetic number. Before conclusions were reached the officers got there and both disputants were locked up. This morning Jack said he thought his jag was of the ordinary kind and Martin said the one he had was not worth while making a fuss over. The judge thought differently and sent them over for eleven days apiece.

Edward Browning combined vagrancy with drunkenness and slept in the city bastile. He had not much of a story to tell, so the court gave him just an even sixty minutes to get out of town, never again to return.

William Arndt has had troubles breaking in on him frequently of late. Less than a week ago he was taken into camp and given a talking to, but was not placed under arrest. He said he would behave himself, but failed to do as he agreed and in consequence he was locked up. This morning to his plea of guilty the judge added a code by sending him over for the usual eleven days.

Several weeks ago William Miller was sent to the county jail on a charge of vagrancy. Miller appears to be partially demented, and at the time of his previous sentence was apparently in bad health. He was discharged a few days ago and was yesterday again locked up. He was this morning sent over for detention, and an effort will be made to send him to the county poor farm, where he evidently belongs.

Mike Kaylor made his periodical bow this morning, and he did it with his accustomed good grace. Mike was not in his usual eloquent mood this morning, however, and said that he would submit to anything the court wanted, but that he had within twelve hours experience a burning desire to reform. Stump speeches, he said, had been the bane of his life for years, and all he wanted was an opportunity to show the public how effectually he can let the stump speech alone. The judge said he would fine him $1 and costs, but would suspend sentence until another stump speech broke loose inside of him, and then he would have to be locked up. Mike thanked the court and when last seen was in a drug store negotiating for a job lot of corks to cork up the vials of his enthusiasm whenever he felt them working.

The only cast customer was Chester Wallace, a young man of not the best reputation, who lives in Bloomingdale and who has a habit of sleeping in barns and other places not intended for boudoirs for refined gentlemen. Last night he was found at the Artificial Ice company's barn and an affidavit for trespass was filed against him. This morning he was released, his father paying his fine, which was $5 and costs.

The cases of George and John Ranseler, two boys accused of being partners of Percy Bigelow and Alando Schmuck in their petty pilferings, were continued until tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

Nightwatchman Lachlan has a pocketbook in his possession containing a small amount of money, which he found. The owner can have it by identifying the property.

John English, a St. Joe township farmer, had a horse taken from the corner of Calhoun and Lewis streets on Saturday night. The horse was swiped by a boy, who tried to sell it for $2. The owner, however, recovered his animal after a lively chase for it, the boy getting away.

A farmer named Slanacher, from Louisville, Ohio, came to town on Saturday to sell a farm. He did not succeed in making an immediate sale, but managed to buy a number of drinks of ancient vintage, which went to his head. He circulated himself and his money rather freely, and finally wound up minus his grip and overcoat. He does not think that he was touched for his traps, but would like somebody to tell him where he left them. He appeared good natured when he reported his loss and agreed that city life is a great thing.

To every lady who will bring to our corset department one purchaser for one of these celebrated corsets "Her Ladyship" for $1.00 we will in turn present her FREE OF CHARGE a pair of these corsets, the same as purchased by the customer at the corset counter, in any size or color she may desire.

All we ask of you is to bring us one (1) customer and come with her and see that she buys one of these corsets, and we will give you one pair of "HER LADYSHIP" Corsets absolutely FREE. Every pair guaranteed to give satisfaction.

This grand offer is made to popularize our corset department and "Her Ladyship" Corsets, for which we are sole agents in Fort Wayne.

This opportunity will be withdrawn Saturday, October 5th, providing the 10 dozen pairs of corsets are not gone before.

STRIKE ON CHICAGO L ROAD.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—After an all-night's session the operating employes of the South Side Elevated railroad (the alley L) struck at 5 o'clock this morning because of the refusal of the company to grant an increase of 25 cents per man for a ten hour day. The decision to strike came after a committee had failed to secure any satisfactory response to an ultimatum sent to President Leslie Carter's home at 3 o'clock this morning. Over 200 men are out. The road, however, is not tied up for as soon as the notice had been given to strike the company pressed into service all the extra men they could get hold of and the trains are now running with a good deal of regularity. The strike is the first in the history of Chicago's elevated railroads.

FRIENDS ARE VERY ANXIOUS

One Fort Wayne boy—Harry M. Wood—is a member of the ill-fated Company C, and two other young men from this city are with the Ninth regiment—W. B. Carson in Company G and Jesse M. Brinningsthall in Company I.

Private Wood is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood, of 47 Grace avenue, and the members of the family are, of course, deeply apprehensive concerning his welfare. Mr. Wood called at The Sentinel office this morning to learn if the Associated Press telegrams had brought any new information concerning the terrible affair, and the parents await news with eager solicitation in the hope that their son was one of the fortunate few who escaped death.

Young Wood served with Captain Meyer's Company G, of the One-hundred-and-fifty-seventh regiment during the Spanish-American war, and in July, 1899, enlisted in the regular army at the recruiting office in this city. He was sent to the Presidio, near San Francisco, and after some weeks was assigned to Company C, of the Ninth regiment, going to the Philippines with that command.

When the trouble in China arose last year the Ninth regiment was among the first American commands ordered there, and Harry Wood went with it through the boxer outbreak in China. It was then ordered back to Manila. In the last letter received by his parents, dated at Manila, July 19, Private Wood states that there was a rumor that his company was to be ordered to Samar, where the butchery occurred Saturday morning. The letter was written on the second anniversary of his enlistment, and the young man spoke hopefully of the fact that in another year his term of enlistment would expire, and he would be homeward bound.

Previous to his army service Mr. Wood was employed with his father at the Coombs wholesale hardware house. He has a wide acquaintance among the young people of Fort Wayne, and is universally popular. Many outside the immediate family will trust that he was of the number who escaped from Samar.
